FORMER U. S. SENATOR DIES AT WASHINGTON

Heart Disease Fatal to President Wilson's Spokesman In Congress During World War —Funeral Sunday in Capital, Further Services at Omaha.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Brief funeral services for Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former United States senator from Nebraska who died at 1:05 o'clock Saturday morning of heart disease, will be held at the Hitchcock home here tomorrow afternoon with Dr. Zebarney Phillips, chaplain of the senate, officiating.

Honorary pallbearers, most of whom were associated with Hitchcock in the senate during the Wilson administrations, announced by the family for the service tomorrow include:

Secretary of State Hull, Attorney General Cummings, Secretary of the Navy Swanson, Assistant Secretary of State Wilbur Carr, former Attorney General Mitchell Palmer, former District of Columbia Supreme Court Justice J. Harry Covington, former secretary to President Wilson Joseph P. Tumulty, former Commissioner of Corporations Joseph E. Davies, Judge John Barton Payne, head of the Red Cross; Arthur F. Mullen of Omaha; Senators Joseph T. Robinson, Glass, Harrison, King, McKellar, McAdoo, Pittman, Norris, Thompson Lewis Walsh, Borah, Barkley and Ashurst, and Representatives Burke and Shallenberger.

After the services here, Mrs. Hitchcock and members of the family will leave for Omaha where funeral and burial services will be held, probably Wednesday. Those accompanying the body to Omaha will include Mrs. Hitchcock, Mrs. Henry Doorly and Miss Ruth Hitchcock, daughters of the former senator; Gilbert Doorly and Mrs. Richard Young, grandchildren, and Mrs. Denman Kountze, a sister of Mrs. Hitchcock.

Was Wilson's Spokesman.

Gilbert Monell Hitchcock, twice United States senator and for three terms previously a congressional representative from Nebraska, attained national prominence during the World war as chairman of the vitally important senate committee on foreign affairs, in which capacity he was recognized as the congressional spokesman for Woodrow Wilson's administration and policies.

Hitchcock carried a great deal of the burden of the war legislation, being a member of the military affairs committee of the senate as well as chairman of the foreign relations committee. He was known best, however, as Wilson's chosen leader to make the futile senatorial fight for ratification of the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations covenant in 1919 and 1920.

Father Also U. S. Senator.

He was the son of Phineas Hitchcock, one of Nebraska's early United States senators, who served from 1871 to 1877 in the same seat afterward occupied by G. M. Hitchcock. The son first came into state prominence as publisher of the Omaha Evening World, which he and two other men founded in 1885. Later he acquired the Omaha Herald and

Tributes To Hitchcock

GOV. C. W. BRYAN: "The passing of former Senator Hitchcock, while it has been expected for some days, comes as a shock to thousands of Nebraska's people who were privileged to enjoy a personal acquaintance with him and have admired his great service to the state and nation as both statesman and publisher. It is an event which will occasion sorrow and regret throughout the state.

"Senator Hitchcock was a student of government and his public service was inspired by high ideals. He had the ability to formulate governmental measures to promote the general welfare, and with it the initiative, determination, and persistence to follow up and carry on until the desired results could be achieved.

"His presence and personality will be missed at democratic gatherings and the loss of his valuable counsel, based on wide experience and clear foresight, will be felt wherever members of the party congregate.

"I know I am speaking the sentiments of the people of Nebraska and on their behalf I wish to tender the sympathy of the state to his wife and members of the family in their hour of sorrow."

The following tributes to former Senator Hitchcock were transmitted by the Associated Press:

POSTMASTER GENERAL JAMES A. FARLEY: "His party will never forget the magnificent service he rendered during his long tenure in the house of representatives and the United States senate. His loyalty to his ideals was typified by his newspapers and the splendid balance he displayed as a legislator deserves the country's gratitude. He was a great democrat and a great American."

GEORGE H. DERN, secretary of war and a former Nebraskan: "Senator Hitchcock was my close friend for a great many years. He rendered outstanding public service while in the senate and as the publisher of the Omaha World-Herald, one of the leading newspapers of the middle west. His death is a distinct loss to the nation and to Nebraska."

J. J. THOMAS, of Seward, Neb., member of the Federal reserve board: "Senator Hitchcock was a very able statesman, a sincere and scholarly man. I knew him for more than 40 years and he was constantly active in the interests of good national and state government. He was one of the senate's most influential and capable leaders. He was esteemed highly by all who knew him."

R. L. METCALFE, former editor of the World Herald, former Omaha mayor and Nebraska chairmen of the national eregency council: "His services in the house and in the senate were so distinguished and so helpful in a very critical period that his name will live in the history of the state and nation. His service to Nebraska was wonderful."

ARTHUR F. MULLEN, democratic national committeeman for Nebraska: "I am grieved for the loss of my dear friend, Gilbert Hitchcock. He spent a busy and useful life in Omaha, the city in which he was born. He made the most significant contributions to the business, political and educational life of our state. His passing takes from Nebraska its most

SECRET SERVICE TOLD TO CLEAN UP CORRUPTION

Roosevelt Moves to End Alliance of Officials and Underworld.

MUCH EVIDENCE ALREADY FOUND

Operatives Promised Non-Interference From Powerful Sources

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—The Daily News says President Roosevelt has ordered the secret service "to end the alliance of crooked government officials and the underworld."

Such action is without precedent since President Lincoln gave Allan Pinkerton, founder of the service, the double duty of spying behind the confederate lines and tracking down enemies of the union in official Washington.

Orders for the action by the secret service, whose duties are usually confined to protecting the president's person, trapping counterfeiters and acting as intelligence officers for the state department, were issued by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, The News says.

Evidence Of Crimes.

Already, The News adds, the secret service detail has evidence of customs frauds and illegal refunds of import duties that total $100,000,000; an underground railroad for transporting criminals in and out of the United States; a $50,000 bribe to a custom patrol which resulted in a camouflaged rum runner sailing unmolested up the Hudson river as far as Haverstraw, N. Y., where she went aground, and a traffic in smuggled drugs and alien girls.

William H. Moran, chief of the secret service and a government agent for 51 years, is heading the investigation, which is being conducted by a hand-picked group of his smartest veteran operatives, The News says.

Armed with hundreds of complaints of rackets and shakedowns which have reached the ears of the president and Morgenthau, The News continues, the operatives have been told to clean up corruption regardless of where their probe may hit. They were promised absolute cooperation and freedom from interference from any other government agency, or politicians, no matter how powerful.

Bryan Shovels Dirt On First Capitol Tree

Planting of the first ornamental tree on Capitol square took place at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Governor Bryan, chairman of the capitol commission, throwing in the first shovelful or two of loose earth around it.

The hole had been dug and the tree, a concolor fir 18 feet high, lowered into it before the governor arrived on the scene. Landscape Architect Ernest Herminghaus and others looked on while Bryan did his stunt.

This tree was placed on the north side of the capitol, close to the building about two-thirds of the distance west from the main entrance at Fifteenth street. Another of the same variety went into the ground later in the afternoon, between the horseshoe drive and the building, near the entrance. Planting will continue next week.

Assisting Governor Bryan in the ceremony were Ernst Herminghaus, landscape architect in charge of the project; Harry Conklin, land commissioner; George A. Marshall, Arlington nurseryman who is furnishing some of the trees; and W. L. Younkin, supervising architect for the capitol commission.

OMAHA CAR TEST SYSTEM STUDIED

Lincoln Council Seeks Data Before Acting On Ordinance.

Whether compulsory adjustments of automobile brakes and lights will be required in Lincoln depends upon an investigation being made Saturday afternoon of how an ordinance passed by the Omaha city council is working, it was decided by members of the city council. At the same time it was indicated that a resolution prohibiting all night parking of automobiles in the business district will be approved.

The investigation of compulsory brake and light testing in Omaha is the result of opposition to the measure in the council, and protests that have been made to the members. The study will be made by Commissioners A. C. Harm, Paul W. Doerr and E. M. Bair, and Deputy City Attorney Lloyd Chapman. Bair is opposed to the measure, he declared, but is reserving a decision until after the study.

According to Mayor Fenton B. Fleming, the night parking ban will be from either 1 or 2 a. m. to 5 o'clock.

Police Chief Condit Saturday afternoon started a study with a view to ascertaining whether compulsory inspections of automobile brakes and lights can be made at the police station if such a provision should be written into a revised traffic ordinance which is to be up for third reading at the meeting of the city council Monday.

If there is room at the station for the installation of the needed equipment, there is a possibility the inspections may be made there it was learned. To do it the city would have to buy the equipment, and employ a qualified brake and light man, whose salary would be paid from the fee of 25 cents that is provided by the ordinance.

SPAEDT INJURED IN COLLISION

Youth's Toes Broken As Heavy Truck Turns Over.

The right foot of John Spaedt, 21, 1046 Charleston street, was injured when the truck in which he was riding overturned at Tenth and Q streets at about 9 o'clock Saturday morning after being struck by a light sedan.

Spaedt suffered a severe laceration and the fracture of two bones in the first two toes of the left foot, according to Dr. K. S. P Hohlen, who treated the injury at Bryan Memorial hospital.

He was sitting on the right side of the truck cab, when the heavy machine careened over on that side. Pete Spaedt, driver, and Ernie Kolb, 10, 1022 Y street, sitting between the two men, were unhurt.

The light sedan was driven by Miss June Alys Boyles, 17, 1134 G street. She was driving west and her car struck the left rear portion of the truck, which was proceeding south, according to police.

Byrd's Antarctic Supplies Unloaded

Crews Work Feverishly to Complete Task at Bay of Whales.

BAY OF WHALES, ANTARCTICA, Feb. 3—(AP)—(Via Mackay Radio)—The second Byrd Antarctic expedition completed today the first phase of operations to equip the winter party—a task hindered by crumbling ice and adverse weather conditions.

Deck officers of the flagship reported that the last of the 450 tons of stores and scientific equipment had been unloaded except for scattered odds and ends and personal gear.

Only the task of transferring 250 tons of coal to the supply ship, the Bear of Oakland, remained. As soon as that is done the flagship will start north for New Zealand where she will remain a year.

Both crews have worked feverishly to unload and advance the stores to caches on the east and west barrier heights of the Bay of Whales.

JOB INSURANCE BILL IS READY

Secretary Perkins Says Roosevelt is 'Profoundly Interested.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Bearing what appeared to be an administration label, a bill looking toward establishment of a job insurance plan in every state today was ready for introduction in congress.

Drawn by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, in co-operation with Secretary Perkins, the measure would set up a federal tax upon all employers. Each, however, would be given exemptions for contributions to approved state unemployment insurance systems.

The labor secretary, after a call with Wagner at the white house said she was not authorized to announce that Mr. Roosevelt would place the administration behind the bill to push it through congress but added that he was "profoundly interested."

Miss Perkins expressed the opinion that most past unemployment insurance methods have smacked of the "true dole and old fashioned hand-out." What is needed, she described as:

"A technique for providing income for people who are laid off because of the great elemental changes that are bound to take place in industry."

TONS OF GOLD ARE ON WAY TO UNITED STATES

Bremen and Berengaria Sail With $30,000,000 Worth of Metal.

'DOLLAR PROFIT' IS NEARLY 3 BILLIONS

Treasury Announces Its Gold Supply Now Valued At $7,018,263,925.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Feb. 3—(AP)—The trans-Atlantic gold rush in the wake of American devaluation moves began today.

The great liners Bremen and Berengaria sailed with strong rooms stacked with gold bars of an estimated value of more than $30,000,000.

By special train, airplanes and trucks, the gold arrived at the port and was stacked in heavily guarded cases until safely aboard the ships.

The Bremen and the Benengaria shared a total weight of 321½ tons of gold.

The Berengaria carried about $20,000,000 worth of gold and will pick up another $5,000,000 worth at Cherbourg tonight, while the Bremen had $7,500,000 worth in its strong rooms.

Huge Dollar Profit.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—The dollar profit to the government on President Roosevelt's devaluation order was given today by the treasury as $2,805,512,060.

This tremendous sum, paid into the "general fund", wiped out the federal deficit which stood yesterday at $1,922,598,173 and gave a surplus on the year's expenditures to date of $973,716,937.

Unless Secretary Morgenthau should decide to use some of this profit to meet current expenditures —which he has said the treasury does not plan to do—the year-end deficit still will reach the $7,000,000,000 estimated by President Roosevelt.

The treasury announced the new dollar value of its gold supply at $7,018,263,925.70.

Put Into General Fund.

The profit on the gold was paid into the general fund of the treasury and put the net cash balance at

Hitchcock Passes Exactly Ten Years After Wilson Death

OMAHA, Feb. 3—(AP)—By an odd coincidence, former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock died at Washington ten years to the day after the passing of his wartime chief—the late President Woodrow Wilson.

A staunch supporter of President Wilson in many measures, Hitchcock was his fiercest opponent in others, but the pair eventually became fast friends and the weary Wilson came to lean more and more on the arm of the Nebraska senator during the waning days of his administration.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Two witnesses testified today to the senate air mail investigating committee that the aviation companies they represented had agreed to permit examination of their records only after certain correspondence had been removed.

The witnesses were L. H. Brittin, vice president of the Northwest Airways, and Gilbert Given, secretary to Harris M. Hanshue, president of Transcontinental & Western Air.

They said the records were taken from the office of William P. MacCracken, the assistant secretary of commerce for aviation in the Hoover administration and now acting attorney for their companies.

MacCracken was arrested last night but immediately freed on bond to appear before the senate Monday to explain his refusal to permit access to the records.

"Purely Personal"

Brittin testified he took "about half a dozen papers, purely personal" and "tore them up as I would any other papers."

Given said he had been told by Hanshue to get the personal papers from MacCracken's files. He testified he did so and sent them to New York, but that they were returned, as he gave the committee what he said were the papers he obtained.

Included were minutes of directors' meetings and letters to and from governmental departments. One was to Earle B. Wadsworth, former superintendent of air mail service in the postoffice department, from H. A. Burgess, assistant to the president of Western Air Express.

Another was to Western Air Express from Clarence M. Young, who succeeded MacCracken as assistant secretary of commerce in the last administration.

Children See Suitor Slay Girl And Self

Iowan Kills Teacher In School House, Then Shoots Himself.

HARLAN, Ia., Feb. 3—(AP)—The bullet scarred bodies of a rural school teacher and a 28-year-old farmer today bore evidence of the double tragedy that was enacted before the horrified eyes of 20 pupils.

The story of how Miss Margaret Graves, 23, the school teacher of Monroe school, No. 2, near here, was shot to death yesterday by Herman Seick, a rejected suitor, who then fired a blast through his own heart, was told by the child witnesses.

It was during the last class of the day when Seick stalked into the room with a shotgun. Miss Graves saw him and screamed as she crouched under a desk for safety. But by that time Seick was close upon her and, as he pulled the trigger of the gun, a rain of slugs poured into the teacher's back.

Falls Dead on Steps.

His victim staggered to her feet screaming, "Run for help," as she made her way to the door and fell dead on the steps.

The children, who had hidden behind their desks, ran. As they did so they said Seick went to the school yard and shot himself.

Relatives of the teacher said Miss Graves had attempted to end the year-long friendship with Seick during the holidays, and Elmer Larson, at whose home she boarded, told authorities of threats Seick had made to end his life unless the young woman responded to his attentions.

FEDERAL RELIEF FUND APPROVED

950 Millions for Jobless Aid and CWA Favored By Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—The administration bill to appropriate $950,000,000 for unemployment relief and the civil works administration during the remainder of the current fiscal year was approved today by the senate appropriations committee.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator and director of the CWA, told the committee in executive session that about $400,000,000 would be required to carry the civil works activities up to May 1, and the remainder would be used for unemployment relief grants to the states.

He reiterated that the administration plans to gradually cut down the CWA program and abandon it by May 1.

The senate committee struck out of the bill a provision approved by the house limiting expenditures through the civil works administration, which would virtually have limited the expenditures to state projects.

As Rogers Sees It

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 3—Watched congress open in Washington around noon yesterday. Then I realized I couldn't do anything about it, so I left. Into Chicago at 4:30, Salt Lake by midnight, and Los Angeles for breakfast. That's rambling. Got a lot of blind flying by radio beams on account of the snow.

I don't know what the ground hog saw, but we did not even see the ground all day.

Have read all the papers in all the cities along the route, and all have had the same front page—big pictures of Sarkey and Dillinger (generally both). We don't give our criminals much punishment, but we sure give 'em plenty of publicity.

Yours, WILL.

The lady who allowed him to enter recalled later that the meter had been read only a few days before and called the city water department to make a check. Now that the city has withdrawn the $25 allotment, the mayor said, if a special officer is maintained in the suburb, he will be on the same status as the veterans patrol maintained in the residential sections of the city proper, paid by voluntary contributions from residents.

PROF. KEMMERER EXPECTS LIVING COSTS TO DOUBLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Prof. Edwin Walter Kemmerer, writing in the New York Sun, predicted today that the cost of living will be more than double that of last November when the depression is over and the results of the Roosevelt administration's dollar devaluation have completely worked themselves out.

Kemmerer, a monetary expert who is professor of international finance at Princeton university, foresaw a general price level 118 per cent higher than last November's and a cost of living 126 per cent higher. He emphasized that these results would take time.

He also declared that "if present tendencies are long continued, the federal reserve system will soon be little more than a fiscal agency of the government."

"Like the first and second United States banks, its tenure of usefulness as a real central bank will have been but 20 years," said Kemmerer.

His comment was made in a lengthy analysis of what he termed the "new monetary unit and new currency system" put into effect by the Roosevelt administration January 31.

He emphasized that the advances would take time and could not assume "much importance" until in some way an increased demand for goods and services should be created.

Industry Must Pay Public Works Cost Is Kesner Belief

"Supporters of the public works theory have failed to mention two unpleasant ceremonies which follow government borrowing and spending," Prof. H. J. Kesner, University of Nebraska engineering instructor, told the Interprofessional institute Saturday noon at the Lincoln hotel.

"The government must pay back what it borrows," Kesner pointed out, "and since it does not produce the means of paying, it must take it from industry. That kind of credit, instead of priming of the business, freezes the water in the well."

He stated that supporters of public works have evolved a four point program of benefits to be derived. They say, first, that it adds to the buying power of the community, it adds to the public wealth in the form of community facilities, it begins a train of increased employment, and it uses existing public works organizations saving time and avoiding further unemployment.

"Undoubtedly, the government has the power to 'prime the pump'," Kesner said. "But we still have the two unpleasant paying back ceremonies."

Treasury Funds Of State Show Little Change for Month

Total cash in the state treasury on January 31 was virtually the same as at the beginning of the year, State Treasurer Hall's report shows $3,777,363 in all funds at the close of the month, compared with $3,771,512 when the books were closed on 1933.

The general fund balance went up about $102,000 in January, to a total of $449,715 on the last day. Little change was noted in most of the other current funds, aside from the gasoline tax reserve which fell off $125,000, leaving $590,682 on hand.

About three-fourths of the semi-annual school apportionment of $467,000 was paid out in January, but $112,564 was taken in for the temporary school fund, which shows a balance of $200,201 on the 31st.

Ancient School Land Contract To Renew

Entered Into Half a Century Ago and Covers Eighty Acre Valley County Tract.

Application for another 10-year renewal of a state school land sale contract that was entered into half a century ago and has already been extended three times, covering an 80-acre tract in Valley county six miles east of Ord, is in the hands of Land Commissioner Conklin and the board of educational lands and funds at its next meeting will probably grant the request.

Only one installment of the principal amount due on the contract—$56 received at the time it was made and signed on June 31, 1884—has ever been paid, and there is still due $504 on the original purchase price of $560 However, the interest at 5 per cent has been paid each year, amounting to $25.50 annually, and altogether the state has collected $1,260 in such charges.

The contract was made with David Davis, but is now held by Mary F. Knudsen of Omaha, to whom it was transfered on June 8, 1931. It ran for an initial period of 20 years, and each renewal has been for 10 years.

Land under sale contract cannot be revalued by the state. So long as the holder keeps up interest payments and can get the contract extended he can retain possession. At this time the state could not get 5 per cent on the money if it should insist on final payment. The board of educational lands and funds, therefore, will probably allow a fourth extension as the best deal for the state.

While the land is now worth much more than the specified sale price and the contract holder is getting it at a low rental, the interest paid to the state is considerably more than twice as much as the original price

The contract bears the signature of A. G. Kendall as land commissioner and was witnessed by H. M. Grimes, afterward district judge at North Platte. Are assignment made in 1889 was witnessed by Peter Mortensen of Ord, afterward state treasurer. All these men have been dead for a number of years.

The state quota was set at 545, all of whom must go to Fort Crook, together with 176 boys from Iowa. The course of training will be in infantry work. Col. Overholser urged all former C. M. T. C. men to get their applications in early.

Benkelman-Haigler-Arickaree District Approved; Fremont Pair To Be Tried Under U. S. Law

ALLOW PROJECT FOR SOUTHWEST

PWA Board to Take Up Water Rights With Other States.

FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 3—(AP)— The Nebraska public works advisory board Friday approved the application of the Benkelman-Haigler-Arickaree irrigation district of southwestern Nebraska for $1,741,000 and announced it will attempt to take up the question of water rights with Kansas and Colorado. The district asked the entire amount as a grant and loan.

Colorado officials recently told the Nebraska board they would oppose the project unless some satisfactory arrangement regarding water rights could be made by the three states. The district proposes to irrigate 41,000 acres along a 50 mile front in Dundy and Hitchcock counties.

It calls for two dams out of the state—one on Arickaree creek on the Colorado-Kansas line southwest of Haigler and the other in Colorado, five miles northwest of Haigler. A third dam would be built on the south fork of the Republican river on the Kansas-Nebraska line five miles south of Benkelman.

Sponsors of the project at the hearing before the board last December asserted completion of the work would enable Dundy and Hitchcock counties to accommodate five times their present population without overcrowding. The district's population is 7,157.

Statement On Bonds.

The board also issued a statement that towns and cities holding bond elections before grants for their projects have been approved by the federal government should place no conditional wording in their ballots.

The announcement was made in answer to questions arising as the result of Attorney General Good's recent decision holding irregular bonds voted upon on the condition that the government approve grants for the projects in question.

"No question regarding bonds regularly will arise if the ballot is free of wording conditioning the issuance of bonds on the receipt of a federal grant," J. E. Lawrence said. "In other words," it was said, "ballots should have the same wording as the regular ballots used prior to the establishment of the PWA."

Graduate Optometrist Clinic Is Concluded

The graduate clinic for optometrists of southeastern Nebraska held in the Cornhusker hotel closed Friday evening after an address by Dr. A. M. Skeffington of Chicago in which he declared "that eye irritation resulting from visual problems is a large factor in the domestic relations court."

Plans were made at the meeting for the continuation of the clinic work through local research groups over the state culminating in another graduate clinic next year. Dr. Leo R. Miller of Lincoln presided over the meeting, which was attended by approximately 35.

Lincoln Goes Down In Fremont Debate

FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 3—(AP)— Midland college's eighth annual high school debate tournament went into its final rounds today, with only two of the original 44 entries still undefeated. Six other teams remained in the running, however, with one defeat each. Two setbacks are necessary to eliminate a contestant.

The Fremont A team and the B team from Abraham Lincoln high school of Council Bluffs were the undefeated survivors. Pairings for the next round were: Abraham Lincoln B versus Fremont A, Holdrege A versus Wakefield A, Omaha Benson A versus Thomas Jefferson A of Council Bluffs, Abraham Lincoln A versus Omaha Central A.

In the third round Abraham Lincoln B defeated Lincoln 2 to 1.

Arm Badly Injured For Second Time

TECUMSEH, Neb., Feb. 3—(AP)— Flying off the handle caused Leonard Johnson a lot of trouble. He was working a jack to lift a house here. The ratchet on the jack missed and the handle jerked Johnson forward with great force. His right arm went through a large glass jug nearby and was cut seriously. Six weeks ago, this same arm was broken in another accident.

Richardson Plans Obtain Pheasants

FALLS CITY, Neb., Feb. 3—(AP) —An organization has been formed and plans are being made to satisfy the requirements for establishment of a pheasant refuge in Richardson county. If the organization will provide a square mile or more and protect it against hunters the state will stock it with 4,000 pheasants. About 400 Richardson county hunters attended a meeting here yesterday in the interest of the plan.

MILLS WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE

Ex-Treasury Head Has No Intention of Running for President.

MILLBRAE, Cal., Feb. 3—(AP)— Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, rested at his home here today a short distance from the residence of his "neighbor," former President Herbert Hoover, in whose cabinet he served.

Mills, who asserted on his arrival from the east yesterday that he has no intention of being a candidate for the republican presidential nomination in 1936, said he plans to confer with Mr. Hoover and other party leaders.

While insisting he will not mix in "factional or local" politics, he said he hoped the republican party would effect proper organization both in California and nationally.

Mills reiterated points of his recent Topeka, Kas., speech and said his remarks there concerning tariff policies did not mean that he advocated a general revision but only adjustments in [illegible] changing [illegible] conditions.

ALLOT COUNTIES $227,850 RELIEF FUNDS FOR MONTH

Douglas Gets Two-Thirds Of Whole Nebraska Apportionment.

Two-thirds of the total sum of $227,850 which the state relief and civil works committee allotted Friday afternoon to furnish living necessities for destitute people during February was earmarked for Omaha and Douglas county. The amount set aside for that county was $147,000, making an aggregate of $619,822 that has been granted since July when federal relief distribution began in Nebraska.

Another $12,000 was allotted by the committee to Lancaster county, chiefly for the city of Lincoln. Total allowances for Lancaster to date, including this one, are $162,400.

Additional relief quotas for 46 other counties were also fixed to take care of February requirements, as follows:

[illegible]

Nursery School Abolished

Upon learning that a nursery school for small children recently established at Nebraska City, as a special relief activity, practically duplicates the work of a nutrition center that has been set up there with money from the $18,500 monthly federal allotment to Nebraska for emergency employment of teachers, the committee voted to discontinue the former. Expenses already incurred, however, will be paid.

Chairman W. H. Smith and Federal Agent Rowland Haynes were given full power to hear and act upon a complaint received from individuals at Fremont concerning the dismissal of Mrs. Zoa Meneen as relief worker for Dodge county and the appointment of Mrs. Genevieve McCutchan of Council Bluffs in her place.

Partial consideration was given to a proposal for furnishing emergency medical service in about a dozen counties to be paid for out of relief funds. This probably will be put into effect as an experimental plan in some counties where local resources are inadequate to provide such service.

Any further allotments of CWA funds to counties, cities, villages, and school districts will depend on the action of congress in making supplemental appropriations to carry on the work beyond February 15. In case more money is made available for Nebraska it will be distributed in a manner somewhat different from that hitherto followed.

All applications for CWA funds coming from the same county will hereafter be considered and acted upon together. This will necessitate representatives of the various localities and projects getting together and agreeing upon an allocation to be presented to the state committee in blanket form. Every county will thus be held to its regular quota and each of its communities will receive part of the money allotted.

TEAR GAS ENDS PRISON MUTINY

BELLEGRADE, Fla., Feb. 3—(AP) —Tears tell the story of a short lived mutiny in which 26 negro convicts participated at the state prison farm near here.

Refusing to work late yesterday, the prisoners barricaded themselves in a bunkhouse and tried to set fire to the building. The local fire department soon extinguished the flames and tear gas bombs tossed by deputies as quickly extinguished the mutiny.

Your Income Tax

Husband and Wife May File Joint or Separate Returns.

Husband and wife living together may each make a separate return of the income of each or their income may be included in a single joint return. If a joint return is filed, such return is treated as a return of a taxable unit, and the income disclosed is subject to both the normal tax and the surtax.

Where separate returns are filed by husband and wife the exemption of $2,500 may be taken by either spouse or divided between them, the husband, for example, claiming $2,000 and the wife $500. However, where the taxable income of one spouse is $4,000 or more in excess of the personal exemption it is to the advantage of the couple if such spouse claims the total personal exemption, the result being the difference in the normal tax rates which are 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions and credits and 8 per cent on the balance. The case of a husband whose net income was $6,000 and a wife whose net income was $2,500 is an example, the husband claiming the full personal exemption.

PALMYRA TO HAVE SCHOOL BUILDING

PALMYRA, Neb., Feb. 3—(AP)— Property owners here voted 107 to 8 yesterday to transfer $1,500 from the school district's general fund to the building fund and to issue $2,000 worth of warrants towards construction of a building to replace the one destroyed some time ago by fire.

Besides this the district has applied for $7,800 PWA funds and has $19,000 insurance money.

Architects have drawn plans for a two story fireproof building containing auditorium and classrooms and officials hope to start construction by April 1. Since the fire classes have been conducted in the American Legion hall, in a store building and a school annex.

No Direct Word On Student Employment

Expected Funds Will Be Supplied To Furnish Work For Ten Per Cent Enrolled.

Although direct word from Washington on the fund of $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 which is being set up to help needy students throughout the country had not been received at the office here of Federal Relief Agent Haynes, he said he expected a communication on the subject by Monday.

Dean T. J. Thompson and L. E. Gunderson, finance secretary, both of the University of Nebraska, made application Friday afternoon for money which would give part time jobs paying from $10 to $20 a month to approximately 500 students at that institution during the current semester.

Chancellor Burnett, who returned from the national capital Tuesday, said Saturday morning that Commissioner of Education Zook was conferring with the president on the plan during the time he was in Washington. Zook's proposal, the chancellor said, would have made 13 per cent of the students in any college or university eligible for aid. The plan announced in Washington Friday provided that not more than 10 per cent might receive such aid.

While awaiting more definite information on the plan the university is checking records in the office of the registrar and in the employment bureaus under the direction of Dean Thompson and Dean Amanda Heppner, preparatory to putting the grant into practice.

Favor Movie Theater For University Place

Business Men's Club May Ask Council to Change Ordinance To Permit Opening.

An almost unanimous opinion in favor of opening a motion picture theater in University Place was expressed at the meeting of the University Place Business Men's club at the Cottage cafe Friday night. According to Paul Cook, president, the movement developed as a solution to the problem of providing recreation for the young people of the suburb.

Before annexation to Lincoln the University Place city charter prohibited moving picture theaters. University Place was annexed in October, 1926 and in April 1927 the city council passed an ordinance forbidding the opening of a public theater charging admission outside the district bounded by Eighth and Eighteenth streets and K and Q streets. Commissioner E. M. Bair, who attended the Friday night meeting, stated that the city council would no doubt make any necessary changes in the ordinance to permit the opening of a movie in University Place if the residents wanted one, Mr. Cook said.

The possibility of opening a bowling alley and billiard hall was also discussed. A committee was appointed by the president to investigate the possibilities of both movements. R. L. Senft was made committee chairman and G. E. Green and N. N. Stevenson the other members.

The last moving picture theater in the suburb was in 1912. Since that time no effort has been made to establish one. Among those who spoke at the meeting were Commissioner Bair, John McAlister, Mr. Cook, G. E. Green, J. G. Vaughan, Henry Wolfe and C. H. Roper.

TWO MUST FACE FEDERAL CHARGE

Lindbergh Act Invoked In Fremont Extortion Case.

FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 3—(AP)— At the conclusion of a conference here last night with County Attorney Fred H. Richards, Howard Cooper, postal inspector from Omaha, said Lawrence Radioff and Frank Kounovsky will be arraigned in federal court on charges of violation of the Lindbergh law.

Richards indicated he will waive claim to the pair because there is no specific state law covering extortion by threat of kidnaping. Nebraska law, he said, mentions only threat to person and property.

Miss Radioff, 20-year-old Fremont domestic, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the District court here on charges of blackmail in connection with an attempt to extort $250 from Louis E. May, Fremont broker. Kounovsky was held on the same charge awaiting arraignment.

Bond Substituted For Payments in Nebraska City Power Rate Case

By the deposit of an additional bond of $30,000 with the clerk of the federal court here, the Central Power company at Nebraska City no longer will be forced to pay to the clerk the difference between their rates and rates set by a city ordinance passed last spring, according to an order issued by Federal Judge T. C. Munger late Friday. A bond of $7,500 is now on deposit with the clerk.

The order also provides that the company may withdraw $13,269 which has accrued with the clerk since last August when an interlocutory injunction issued June 27, 1933 went into effect. The company must, however, the order states, file with the clerk in each calendar month a statement showing the name of each customer and the amount of excess collected from each. Judge Munger said he would appoint a master soon to hear the case.

Thimgan Is Denied Rehearing Of His Road Marker Suit

The Supreme court Saturday denied Matthew Thimgan a rehearing of his appeal in his suit to recover $50,000 from the state of Nebraska for alleged misuse of the covered wagon road marker design. Thimgan claims he designed and patented the design and the state converted it to its own use without authority and without compensating him.

The court also denied the motion of the village of Upland for a rehearing of its appeal from a compensation judgment in favor of Mrs. Lena Duering which it sustained recently. Mrs. Duering was awarded compensation for the death of her husband Charles while employed by the village.

Floyd Swanson's motion for a rehearing of his appeal in a compensation suit against the village of Shickley was overruled.

The Supreme court also refused to rehear the appeal of the Northport Irrigation district in its suit to enjoin the Farmers Irrigation district of Scotts Bluff county from alleged violation of a water agreement.

STEEL INDUSTRY BATTLES LABOR BOARD OF NRA

Pledge Taken to Resist Interference With Company Unions

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—The steel industry has come to a parting of the ways with the national labor board of the NRA.

Endorsing the position taken by the Weirton Steel company and other concerns, executives of leading steel companies issued a statement last night pledging themselves to "resist all attacks" upon their company unions, contending the unions comply with Section 7-A of the NIRA and that elections authorized by an executive order yesterday night violate it.

The executive order, issued by President Roosevelt, empowers the labor board to step into any faction and conduct in its own way elections of labor representatives to negotiate with employers when a "substantial number" of workers ask it.

The statement, which came from the American Iron and Steel institute, trade organization of the industry, expressed co-operation with President Roosevelt and sympathy with Section 7-A of the NIRA, which grants employes the right to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing.

Foresee Confusion.

It pointed out, however, that "to provide that an election shall be held when a substantial number of employes shall demand it and to give to the national labor board the right to determine what constitutes a 'substantial number' of employes may force an election when only a handful of discontented workers who might be union organizers demand it. This is bound to be a constant source of confusion."

The institute statement took issue with "the published statement by the NRA to the effect that so-called company unions are operated by employees' representatives chosen by the employers rather than by the employees themselves" and labeled it "a flagrant misrepresentation of fact."

"We feel we have done all we could and are patiently awaiting the action of our governor."

Ban On Night Parking Downtown Petitioned

Businessmen Claim Practice Interferes With Street Cleaning, Unfair Garage Competition

A petition requesting that all-night parking of automobiles on downtown streets be prohibited has been filed with City Clerk Berg, with the request that it be considered by the city council next Monday. It is signed by a group of businessmen and was filed by their attorney, W. J. Allen.

"The petitioners ask parking of motor vehicles not be permitted between 2 and 5 a. m. in the business district.

The reasons given for the proposal include a growing use of the streets for all night storage, increased expense to the street department and decreased efficiency in connection with keeping the thoroughfares clear. In the winter it is impossible to clear the gutters of ice and snow, the petitioners declare, "which of necessity must be done at night."

An increased burden and added expense is thrown on the police department "to say nothing of the fire hazard," the petition states. Use of the city's streets as a garage constitutes unfair competition with garages, it is also pointed out.

The signers of the petition: Don L. Love, E. B. Stephenson and Richard H. Rogers representing businessmen.

The garage owners are Eugene Lev, E. R. Pinney and E. M. O'Shea.

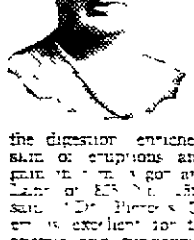

E. R. Pinney and Howard Britt signed as officers of the Lincoln Machinists and Automotive association.

SENATOR GILBERT M. HITCHCOCK, THE GLORIOUS KNIGHT.

CONSTANCY to political conviction dominated the illustrious career of the distinguished Nebraskan, former United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, whose death occurred in Washington early Saturday morning. His life furnishes eloquent and vivid proof that when a man of wealth, of ability, and of influence dedicates his heart to the glorious cause of clean, honest, and incorruptible government, expressive of social justice and warming humanitarianism, there is no more steadfast, faithful, or devoted champion to be found.

For Gilbert M. Hitchcock was exactly that.

He was a gallant gentleman, of kindly, courtly manners and bearing, a noble warrior, who, through the strength of conviction, knew no fear; a generous fighter, who scorned the ways which are cheap and tawdry. He preferred to lose rather than to achieve an ignoble victory. The most brilliant luster of the career of this glorious knight, however, is found in the fact that his sympathies went to those who were oppressed, and to those for whom existence was a bitter struggle, to those whose sole benediction was close association with the soil. He was a Nebraskan. Every beat of his heart reaffirmed his faith in this state, in its rightful and proper part in national affairs, in its people, in their deserved destiny. He was a man of wealth, but wealth did not spoil him. It seemed, if anything, to intensify those sympathies for poverty and for the accompaniments of poverty. The humble and the lowly have lost a strong, great friend. The state mourns the death of one of its most valuable champions. His associates and workers on a great newspaper are saddened by the knowledge that his passing deprives them of the inspiration he was. Thousands and thousands of friends and acquaintances, scattered throughout Nebraska and in other states, feel a keen sense of personal loss in his death.

TO GAIN the full measure of the man, it is necessary only to recall one of his latest public appearances in Nebraska. He was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Lancaster county democracy. On that occasion, he spoke of the circumstances which caused him to leave the republican party and to devote the remainder of his life to democracy. In short, those circumstances were the favoritism, the discrimination, the extortion built up under the republican gospel of the high protective tariff, which in its practical application produced a class of industrial barons in America and the control of national policies by this group.

But Mr. Hitchcock did not tell all. He did not reveal what his decision to support W. J. Bryan in the memorable campaign of 1896 against William McKinley cost him in personal worry and in financial sacrifice. He was the publisher of a struggling newspaper at that time. There were pay rolls to be met, and his magnificent fight cost him advertising patronage. He made that fight, and many others following, for at no time during his ownership of a newspaper did he hesitate to take a position which he felt was for the good of his state and his country.

He represented Nebraska for nearly twenty years both in the house and in the senate at Washington. Throughout all of Woodrow Wilson's first term, he had an important part in assisting in the drafting of legislation representing liberal thought. When the war came, he was chairman of the highly, important foreign relations committee and a member of the military affairs committee of the senate. In those positions, he became an outstanding figure. And then at the conclusion of the drafting of the Versailles treaty, he became Woodrow Wison's spokesman for ratification of the covenant in a struggle which time will elevate to the highest historic consequence.

That scarcely touches a busy, useful life, filled with work, enriched with success, sweetened with personal qualities which made him the finest and the most loyal of friends, the most public spirited of citizens, and the most charming and gracious of men.

IT IS difficult for those who knew him, who admired him, and who loved him to realize he is gone. He was a never failing source of comfort to them. He was the type of man who could create confidence, assurance, and trust in people. He was the kind of man to whom people turned in trouble to pour out their worries. They knew they would find in him a kindly and a sympathetic listener who would give them the benefit of his broad experience, his fine intellect, and his keen sense of justice and honor. They knew that, if in their nearness to their problems they had acquired a warped or a distorted view, he would tell them so, and if their cause were right and just, they would find in him an ally upon whom they could depend. He was generous with his wealth, generous with his time, and generous with his strength. He was generous and tolerant with political opposition. Innumerable stories might be told of his desire that any and all who criticised him might be given the opportunity for full expression in the columns of his own newspaper. There was nothing mean nor small about Gilbert Hitchcock. He did not nourish nor harbor revenge. He lived a serene, calm, and refreshing life, accepting disappointment with philosophical gallantry, and viewing triumph with befitting humility.

We said Nebraska had lost a great champion and a great citizen, and so it has. It has lost a man whose entire life was constructive. It has lost a man whose natural instinct was to be forward-looking. It has a lost a man who contributed enormously to sane, wholesome, and decent thought; who was influential in a very large sense for rational, sound, and solid action. It has lost a man who took a deep, unswerving interest in its development and its progress, who gave unstintingly of himself to that end, who was endowed unusually and rarely with the qualities of wise and beneficent leadership. His name will be associated intimately with the state of his birth and of his labors for many, many years to come.

CHILDREN DRIVERS.

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that a recently enacted law permits children of fourteen years of age to drive automobiles to and from school, a large proportion of the people of the state are of the opinion that the statute is a bad one and should be repealed at the next session of the legislature.

It is probably true that some children of that age have as good judgment as some men or women ever could acquire, but these are the rare exception. Legal age in Nebraska is twenty-one years, and though few will contend that boys and girls should be deprived of the right to drive until they reach that age, it is seriously asserted that fourteen is altogether too young.

To drive an automobile properly and safely requires good judgment and quick thinking, and certainly children of the age mentioned cannot be expected to have these requisites, though most of them believe that they have and the opinion is shared by some of their parents. To permit them to drive endangers their own lives and those of others who may be upon the highways.

The impulse of youth is to take a chance, and it is an indisputable fact that the attention of young boys and girls is easily distracted. It is principally because of these two things that youthful drivers become involved in accidents. Traveling the same road day after day they become careless and negligent. They are tempted, just as older persons are, to drive at high speed, and when danger becomes imminent, few of them have the judgment and the faculty of quick thinking, to enable them to avoid it.

A number of regrettable accidents have occurred in Nebraska recently, some of them fatal, as a result of permitting youngsters to drive. The danger is great enough and the casualties are sufficiently numerous when none but adults are allowed at the steering wheels. It would therefore seem to be the part of wisdom to withdraw the privilege from children.

IT'S EASY.. TRY IT.

NEWSPAPER headline: "President Cuts Gold Dollar to 59.06 cents."

Mr. A—Well, I see they've cut the dollar to 59 cents.

Mr. B.—Yeah? Well, here are two silver dollars, do you mean they're only worth $1.18?

A.—No, they're worth $2.

B.—But I thought the dollar was cut to 59 cents.

A.—It was.

B.—Well?

A.—You see, they only cut the amount of gold in a dollar. Before we went off the gold standard there were 25.8 grains of gold in a dollar, and now there are only 15.5 grains. Before, if you took a dollar bill to the treasury, they had to pay you 25.8-grains of gold. Now, that dollar bill is only worth 15.5 grains.

B.—Then I can get 31 grains of gold for these two dollars?

A.—No. Circulation of monetary gold is now illegal, except for settling international balances.

B.—Then the whole thing doesn't affect me at all.

A.—No, you're wrong again. This change is expected to increase prices, so your two dollars won't buy so much.

B.—I must be the sucker in this game.

A.—No, that isn't fair. Prices went down faster than your wages for four years, and the purchasing power of your dollar about doubled. But the farmers around Lincoln, upon whom the business in Lincoln largely depends, have been put in a tight spot by the low prices. If they get a square deal, then Lincoln business ought to pick up, and in time you ought to get a raise.

B.—I can tell you one thing, I'm a sucker to try to figure this out.

A.—I'm sorry, but it's your duty to learn.

B.—Good bye (the tone is a "trifle" belligerent.)

MISSOURI'S THREE MUSKETEERS.

THAT stirring line of: "One for all, all for one." from the Three Musketeers has had its parallel in Missouri politics, the Kansas City Star declares, only instead of three it is four.

In the smoke and the misery of European battlefields these four Missourians, headed by United States Senator Bennett Clark, the son of the late Champ Clark, drew their pact. It promises a new leadership of virile youth for the democracy of that state, against the old machines in Kansas City and St. Louis. A great quartet—Senator Clark, Colonel Carl L. Ristine, Dan M. Nee, and Randall Wilson. Followers of Cornhusker football will remember Ristine and Nee particularly as members of an up and coming Missouri football team which gave Nebraska plenty of trouble on the football field. And since then they have been making a name for themselves in the political field.

Clark is now in the senate; Nee is collector of internal revenue at Kansas City; Ristine was recently appointed district attorney; and Wilson will take a position shortly of first assistant.

But it isn't jobs that the men are interested in solely.

Clark already has made an exceptional record at Washington. Although elected only in November of 1932, he is an outstanding figure and commands high respect. There are few men in the senate better equipped than he is. His father for years was speaker of the house. Bennett Clark himself served as parliamentarian. He is thoroughly familiar with procedure, has a wide acquaintance with national problems, and has courage and ability. He will bear watching.

QUESTION.
Raleigh, N. C.

If you were asked to mention the leading characteristic of our time, what would it be?

ANSWER.

Transition. Never before except in war periods has any civilized nation been more uncertain concerning what a day or an hour may bring forth. That applies both to personal, community, civic, national and international affairs. Every group is now painfully aware that the changeless law is constant change.

Where and how are millions of our fellow men, women and children to exist, and what are they to do in order to earn an honest livelihood? How shall they obey nature's laws and marry to bring children into the world? Establishing a home is the primal instinct which in numberless instances canot be satisfied under present economic conditions.

The old ways of doing things suddenly broke down when running at full speed. Adversity fell on hosts of unsuspecting souls like a thief in the night. The new ways are charged with experimental elements and uncertainties which must be eliminated before security can be attained. Too often the industrial system we have favored gives the fat to the few and the lean to the many.

No conditions which produce too much for a small minority and too little for a discontented majority can be beneficial or permanent. The president of this republic and the rulers of every other nation are sorely beset. It is hard to formulate plans in such a time. Nevertheless we cannot "play the ukulele while the ship goes down." It is far wiser to do something than to drift with the current. Hence we have to cultivate hard thinking, courageous action, believing hearts, and to produce politics stamped by justice for all and special privileges for none.

QUESTION.
Pittsburgh, Pa.

I have a fine boy who graduated from high school three years ago and he has not yet been able to find a job. What is best to do?

ANSWER.

You start a personal problem which is comparatively widespread and rapidly increasing. Until recently society had places waiting for just such lads as yours. Indeed, in earlier days I often received letters for this colmn protesting against boys being lured from high school by the offer of well paying jobs, and also other letters asking why it was necessary that they should be there at all. Now there is a huge surplus of fine, upstanding youngsters in peril of demoralization for lack of work.

One should try and get under the skin of these young people. Summer passes, but months of enforced idleness go on beyond the vacation period. Parents are unable to pay for further education. In your boy's case, three weary, disappointing years have come and gone. It is a tragedy more vividly experienced than expressed for him and for all situated as he is. What can be done about it? Principal Hubert H. Helbe of Appleton, Wis., recommends, first, that many unemployed high school graduates can work on farms. Certainly the "back-to-the land" movement is socially and econmically sound. If necessary those who follow it can work for board and lodging. City-bred boys would be greatly benefited by experiencing for themselves their grandfathers' acquaintance with the soil.

Secondly, I suggest that every boy waiting for a job should in the meanwhile map out a course of reading and study with a definite end in view. Many graduates of high schools can reel off major league standing of teams, names of individual players and world series statistics. But ask them an elementary question concerning any one of a hundred interesting subjects either in literature, science, history or mechanics and they are stumped.

Lastly, why not put boys like yours in charge of playgrounds as leaders of various games? Let them take an active part in all comunity enterprises. In short, advise them to do anything which makwes them aware that they are working and not drones, and as such helpful to the community.

QUESTION.
Glen Falls, N. Y.

Have you considered the frightful persecutions in Russia? Nobody seems to give them much consideration. Germany is not the only land in which there is repression and tyranny.

ANSWER.

I agree, but, to be frank, the world expected better things from Germany than from Russia. The one is a highly educated nation with a splendid history in music, philosophy, science and the general intelligence of its people. The other is largely an illiterate nation habituated to semi-Oriental despotism.

Yet Russian rulers, whether Czaristic or Communistic have clearly understood that religious liberty is accepted by western civilization as the source of civil liberty and that civil liberty is the requisite of religious liberty. They cannot plead ignorance of this great principle but they deliverately nullify it as detrimental to their designs.

In November, 1929, some 200,000 Russian Christians, goaded to desperation by the repressive maesures of the soviet, encamped on the outskirts of Moscow, determined to wring from the authorities permission to leave Russia. Thousands died of disease and starvation, thousands more were deported. Ultimately some 7,000 families found new homes in Germany, Poland and the Baltic states.

I mention this tragedy as one among others revealing the bitter lot of all who dare to stand for liberty of conscience in matters of faith against the frightful exactions of the soviet. Do you wonder that millions of thoughtful American citizens resent any intercourse with that type of administration?

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

NEW TYPE OF DISEASE FOUND WHICH REDUCES WHITE CELLS

A disease which has recently made its appearance, or at least has only recently been recognized is a peculiar form of anemia or blood destruction in which not the red, but the white cells, are reduced in number. Ordinarily when we say "anemia", we mean a reduction particularly in the red cells of the blood, those cells which carry oxygen from the lungs to the tissues and poisons from the tissues back to the lungs, and which give the human countenance its complexion.

Dr Clendening

There are, however, other cells in the blood — the white cells, whose function is to combat infection by killing off germs. These, like the red cells, are also manufactured in the bone marrow, and it seems possible that some sort of poison can affect the productive center for such cells, causing a reduction of the total amount in the circulating blood.

The disease, for which there is no common name, is called "agranulocytic angina." "Angina" means sore throat, and the white cells of the blood are sometimes called "granulocytes," so that the "agranulocytic" part means without white cells.

The features of the disease are that there are ulcerations which occur in the mouth and sometimes in other cavities of the body, such as the rectum, with a tremendous reduction of the white cells in the blood. This reduction may be pushed to the place where one type of the white cell practically disappears.

The earlier cases were almost invariably fatal in outcome, but a number of substances have been found which stimulate the marrow, and there now are recoveries on record. The use of spleen from unborn animals and several other marrow-stimulating substances have been used.

QUESTION.

"What processes are utilized in malting cereal foodstuffs? Does malting cause the cereal to be more easily digested?"

ANSWER.

The malting of grain consists in allowing it to germinate in a warm, moist room, which converts a large part of the starchy material of the grain into dextrin and maltose. In order to stop the process at the right point, the grain is heated when dry. It is generally considered that malted grains are somewhat more easily digested than grains that have not undergone this process.

QUESTION.

"If a girl of 16 gets a curvature of the spine after an illness, will that get worse as time goes on? Could a girl in such a condition marry, and would it affect child bearing?"

ANSWER.

Curvature of the spine is not likely to get better without treatment, which consists in corrective exercises and possibly a brace. It usually does not affect child bearing, although this depends on the position of the curvature and its severity. If low down, it may affect child bearing adversely; otherwise, not.

Just Folks

SMALL HOUSES.

Whene'er I drive the town at nights
  Through little window panes
I see the merry twinkling lights
  Along the streets and lanes,
And I can fancy at their beds
  The children kneel in prayer
When all the old and weary heads,
  Have said good night to care.

The larger mansions I pass by
  I scarcely turn to see
Although I know no reason why
  They should not happy be.
But dreams and fancies seem to cling
  To little homes aglow
And strangely back to me they bring
  The days of long ago.

For of a little house was I,
  With pretty rooms and small
And friendly neighbors living by
  Who often stopped to call
From cellar to the roof I know
  The path the children run
And up and down it I could go
  As I so oft have done

At little window panes I see
  The curtains white and trim
And memories come back to me
  Which time can never dim
Though richer folk appear to be
  Three over ten times blest,
The little homes appeal to me
  Because I know them best

Two Men Save Home By Prompt Work In Fire

John Geislinger and William Griffett prevented serious damage to the John S. Wagner home, 1445 North Twenty-fourth street, late Friday afternoon, when they rushed a chemical extinguisher from the North Side Planing mill, where they are employed, to put out a fire in the home's basement. The blaze was out before firemen arrived, and they praised Geislinger and Griffett for their prompt action.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Mrs. Reddy Has to Explain

Who will not fight will little gain,
The truth of this is very plain.
—Mrs. Reddy.

Whitey the Snowy Owl had snatched a Duck from under the very nose of Mrs. Reddy Fox, a dinner for which her mouth had been watering for hours. She had planned and worked patiently to get that dinner. To have it snatched away from her just as she was about to seize it was more than any self-respecting Fox could be expected to stand. Certainly Mrs. Reddy had no intention of standing for it. So she had boldly leaped and caught a wing of that Duck in her teeth bringing both the Duck and the big Owl down on the ice.

"Robber! Robber!" snarled Mrs. Reddy. "That Duck is mine!"

"Robber yourself!" snapped Whitey. "I caught it; you didn't."

"I would have if you hadn't snatched it right out of my very mouth," snarled Mrs. Reddy. "You saw me and knew that Duck was mine. Give it to me. Give it to me, I say!"

But Whitey had no intention of giving up his prize, which had been instantly killed when he struck it. He pounded Mrs. Reddy with his great wings and struck at her with his hooked bill, but he still clutched his victim with both feet. This was an advantage for Mrs. Reddy. Those great claws were Whitey's best weapons. Now, clutching that disputed dinner, they were useless as weapons, a very good thing for Mrs. Reddy as Reddy could have told her had he been present.

Mrs. Reddy was free to use her teeth and she did. She tried her best to sink them into Whitey's neck. But Whitey was always too quick to give her a chance and that hooked bill of his tore her face and ripped a gash in one shoulder. At last Mrs. Reddy caught one of Whitey's legs in her teeth and despite the protecting feathers, they hurt so that he was forced to let go of the Duck with that foot. In fact he let go with both feet in order to strike with them. In a flash Mrs. Reddy had that Duck and was heading for the bank of the Big River and the protection of the bushes growing there. She had the Duck by the neck and had thrown its body back over her shoulders. Carried this way she could run with it and run she did.

Whitey was in the air and after her in a jiffy, but he was too late. Mrs. Reddy reached the bank and darted in where the bushes were thickest. There was no chance for the great Owl to swoop down at her there; the bushes were in the way. He had lost that Duck and he knew it. He alighted on the snow just outside the bushes and glared in at Mrs. Reddy, all the time snapping his bill angrily. Then, knowing he was beaten, he once more took to his wings and flew off to look elsewhere for a dinner.

Mrs. Reddy reached the bank and darted in where the bushes were thickest.

When Mrs. Reddy returned home she took with her two Mice which she had caught on the way. These she gave to Reddy. It wasn't until he had eaten them that he really looked at Mrs. Reddy.

"Where under the sun have you been and what have you been doing?" he demanded. "You look as if you have been in a fight with Whitey the Owl."

Mrs. Reddy looked sheepish. "I have," she admitted.

"What?" exclaimed Reddy. "And that after all the advice you gave me about keeping away from that fellow? Why don't you practice what you preach?"

"He stole my dinner and I had to fight to get it back," explained Mrs. Reddy.

"And do you think a Mouse is worth being scratched and torn as you are?" asked Reddy scornfully.

"My dinner was worth it. It was a Duck," replied Mrs. Reddy. Then she explained the whole story and Reddy a bit enviously agreed that that was truly a dinner worth fighting for.

Blond Goddess

A New Serial By HERBERT JENSEN

SYNOPSIS: Although Frank Grahame, the explorer, is convinced that Raoul Ortega engineered the abduction of Janice Kent, movie star, which Frank just has blocked, Miss Kent refuses to believe him. Frank is in love with Janice and has told her so; now, at a meeting in the office of Myberg, famous movie producer, it has been decided to proceed with a Mexican film for which Ortega was negotiating — without Ortega. Janice tells of the abduction.

Chapter 14.
FRANK'S CALL.

"When Paula, my maid, said that he had phoned and asked if I were home, you construed that to mean that Ortega wanted to be sure that I was available for abduction—but I don't think so. Perhaps he just wanted to call to say good-bye; but changed his mind.

"When those two men came in, he wasn't with them. They—" She repressed an involuntary shudder. "They held me so I couldn't scream. One of them gave me a hyperdermic. Another man—I never did see his face—was outside. I was conscious that he was there when they put me in the car..."

"Did he have a beakish nose?" asked Frank.

Janice shook her head. "I don't remember." Greene made a little sound. He breathed:

"What a story! What a story! I've got most of it here." He held up a sheaf of paper. "When I break this what a—"

"Giff them here," said Myberg, looking coldly at Greene with his obsidian eyes.

Greene passed them over. Myberg grasped them with his pudgy hands and ripped the sheaf across. He dropped the torn paper into a wastepaper basket. Greene made a small, strangled sound. Winslow chuckled.

"Greene," he observed, "considers that vandalism. He is an artist."

"So wass Munchausen," grunted Myberg. "But the newspapers get nodding of this. The public wouldn't believe it. They would laugh at it for a lie. I don't mind if they laugh at you, Greene, but Miss Kent iss no joke."

Greeen looked miserable.

Frank said kindly, "Don't take it so hard, old man. You'll get other chances. You're a good publicity man. Miss Kent told me so herself. She couldn't do without you, really."

At Janice's nod, Greene looked pleased and important.

"I work hard," he said. "In fact, I go to considerable time and expense to develop these stories. I—"

Janice interrupted him with a swift look. "He gets a perfectly stupendous salary for developing these stories, and I couldn't do without him, really. That is, he would be most difficult to replace. Wouldn't you, Mr Greene?" She smiled at him engagingly.

At the fleeting expression or discontent that arrived and vanished on Greene's face, Winslow laughed aloud.

Myberg drummed his knuckles impatiently on the desk.

"There is nodding to do now except to get on prodooction. We will not try to find out any more whys and wherefors. With the police in it, the newspaper fellers would coom out with stories. I will get some men from an agency to watch oudt for Janice. That...iss all."

The discussion had been concluded early in the afternoon. Janice had gone home and rested. She had eaten a light dinner, and thought once in a little flurry of agitation that she might run over to a friend's house, and not be at home—actually—when Frank Grahame called.

But this device, she realized, would be useless. Sooner or later she must talk with Frank. She suspected also that it would be a little cowardly. She'd see him tonight, since he wanted it and...Her compressed lips relaxed. What would she tell him?

It was nine-fifteen when she entered the drawing room on the lower floor. Frank stood before the log fire that burned cheerily in the grate. His wide shoulders bulked against the glow. He held a newspaper clenched in his hands; he seemed to be hypnotized by the crackling logs, so intense was his concentration.

She spoke his name twice before he seemed to hear her. He turned the fixed, absent stare of the thinker upon her. It was apparently an effort for him to bring his thoughts back to this room.

"Janice, have you read the evening papers?"

"No. I— What is it, Frank? Is it something about last night?... Tell me—"

He shook his head impatiently.

"It's about Bill Langton. The dead flyer. My friend. But perhaps he isn't dead...See—" He shook the paper. "They've found a bottle paper. Washed ashore on an obscure reef in the Gulf. In Bill's handwriting, if it's not a hoax. Maybe he's alive—after all these months—down in the jungle somewhere. But why—" His brow drew together in a frown, little tanned corrugations, Janice thought, that made him look curiously like a boy with a vexing school problem.

"—but why a drift bottle. There are no rivers down there to float a bottle out to sea. None mapped as I remember that coast. I wonder..."

Janice felt an odd sensation of excitement and of unease. Frank, she remembered, was an explorer, familiar with jungle trails. Could it be that he was considering that this story in the evening paper might contain a clue that would induce him to leave Hollywood for the south to search for his lost friend?

Her heart beat a little faster. Perhaps she could suggest that he go. It would be an admirable solution of her problem, or rather the problem he might prove to be.

"But Frank," she said "He's dead. They proved that months ago. If he was not drowned when his plane went down into the sea, he must have been killed if it crashed in the jungle. This happened months ago. If he survived, surely he could have reported—"

What was the matter with her? This was not what she had intended to say. She wanted to encourage him to go, yet her words would indicate nothing to him except that she did not think there was any use for him to believe Langton alive — and leave Hollywood to search for his friend.

She continued: "Mr. Myberg is having a contract drawn for you. I heard. We are about to begin a picture. You are needed now that Mr. Ortega—"

He tossed the paper onto an adjacent chesterfield. He said something to the effect that everyone possibly had just the bare details of the bottle paper—he would know more in the morning.

He smiled and stepped toward her; had her life depended upon it she could not have moved. She stood transfixed, looking at him. His arms were about her. She suffered him to tilt her chin and kiss her.

"Remember last night? I knew you cared. You don't want me to go away, do you? Oh, Janice, I love you so!"

Words tumbled from his lips. Strong words, masculine words. Something about the non-marriage clause in her contract being drivel, that the idea of her working was drivel. He had enough money for both of them.

Love. Love in a cottage. A gay adventure. He would take her to strange places he had been. Where he'd been lonely. Where they could sit under the stars before a campfire.. dinner over, and the dishes washed—

She was away from him. The width of the fireplace was between them. Almost hysterically she realized that she had struggled out of his arms and had struck his cheek with her open palm.

She saw the bewildered hurt in his eyes, and the unconscious gesture he made of lifting his hand to touch his cheek. Her palm burned from the slap; her heart pounded with a curious and delicious excitement, her lips still tingled with the firm warmth from his kiss. And she had struck him! She wanted to cry out, "I didn't mean it!" But the words would not come.

Frank said, "Oh...I'm sorry—" Even in the firelight his face looked pale beneath the tan. It was as if a mask had been put upon him, so still were his features. The blue of his eyes had become a deep gray. Only his mouth had a strange twist to it.

She was conscious that he was leaving. She was unable to do or say anything that would prevent him from going. But he was gone before she realized how desperately she had not wanted him to go.

The need for activity descended upon her. She flew upstairs to her boudoir. She dialed a telephone number. There was no answer.

She realized that Frank could not possibly have arrived back in his apartment in this short time. She thought of telephoning the apartment manager, and leaving a message. But she would try again in half an hour. During the interval she walked about the upstairs floor; she descended to the drawing room and flung herself upon the chesterfield. She phoned again. Still there was no answer.

Corn Loans Pour More Money Into Nebraska Purses Than All Other Federal Administration Programs

The federal government's 45 cent a bushel corn loan program has meant more in Nebraska to date in the way of pouring money into circulation than all the other federal contributions combined.

An Associated Press survey Saturday showed that by January 27, corn warehouse certificates issued by the state railway commission made possible $12,000,000 in corn loans. With the exception of loans through the farm and home refinancing program, the funds from all other federal sources put into this state were estimated at less than $10,000,000. This included federal relief, CWA and CWS funds, federal highway, Missouri river and PWA work and wheat benefit payments actually distributed within the state.

The railway commission issued 19,094 corn warehousing certificates before this month, at an estimated 1,350 bushel average. That would permit nearly $12,000,000 in loans and Commissioner Hugh Drake believes this all taken up as farmers would have no reason to seal their corn unless intending to take advantage of the loan.

Here are the best available estimates of federal money from other sources actually placed in Nebraskans hands by the same date, as compiled by federal officials for the Associated Press:

Federal emergency relief funds [illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	20,000
[illegible]	[illegible]
Federal [illegible] work [illegible]	[illegible]
CWA [illegible]	[illegible]
CWA [illegible] and [illegible]	[illegible]
CWA [illegible]	[illegible]
Estimated CWA and CWS [illegible] week in January (not included above)	375,000
Federal highway funds of $7,500,000 allotment actually paid out, estimated	3,500,000
Citizens conservation corps camps in Nebraska, wages and supplies estimated	400,000
Local PWA projects reported from Washington that actual expenditures in Nebraska were	0
Wheat benefit payments	3,595,123

The corn loans constituted a direct contribution to money into circulation as did the other federal efforts listed above in contrast to the farm and home refinancing programs which for the most part meant transfer of indebtedness.

Huey and Royalty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Huey Long, Louisiana's trouble-dodging senator, is not quite sure of himself when he gets into the realm of royalty.

Contending the St. Lawrence waterway treaty really was with Great Britain, rather than Canada, the self-dubbed "Kingfish" referred to King George V as: "His Britannic majesty George, uh, George—What is his number?"

Man, in the Future
Lost Life, Not Glory
It Is a Thick Fog
Canada Puts One Over

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

One of those deep, learned Germans, Professor Papp, world authority on evolution, tells what man will be like in the distant future, and young ladies will not like the description Ten feet high, head massive and hairless, no teeth, lips thin and pale, brain able to transmit and receive electro-magnetic waves like a radio, X-ray eyes able to see through solid objects."

Nobody can predict what men will be like in future, when the hardest work will be pressing a button, with poverty and hunger unknown, disease conquered, population necessarily restricted by law, or, more probably, by natures' processes.

Israel Zangwill said that the great conqueror of the future would be an epileptic carried around the battlefield, on an air cushion, an idea as repulsive as that of the German professor. Nature does not make things uglier. They always improve.

Dr Papps suggestion that "the human race will eventually be destroyed by giant insects that will inherit the earth," is a poor guess.

Any entomologist can tell him that their very structure makes it impossible for insects to attain any great size. And any chemist can prove that chemistry will always conquer insect life, unless insects should develop chemists abler than human chemists, which seems improbable.

The courageous Russian scientists who lost their lives, exploring the upper regions of the air, did not, fortunately, lose the glory to which they were entitled. Nearly all their instruments were smashed when the gas-bag crashed, but the barograph, showing how high the balloon rose, survived the fall The three young Russians reached a height of 72,178 feet, more than thirteen and a half miles, far above the record

Americans are now planning to go up fifteen miles.

An able Canadian newspaper, the Toronto Mail and Empire, lets several interesting cats and kittens out of the bag in connection with the building of the St. Lawrence waterway Many Americans will be interested in these facts, mentioned by the Canadian newspaper

'The cost of the undertaking will be borne mainly by the United States.

"The United States abandons its ancient contention that Lake Michigan is an American lake.

"The treaty puts an end to Chicago's ambition to drain the Great Lakes, for the benefit of the Mississippi valley

"Lake Michigan belongs to the watershed of the St. Lawrence, instead of to the Mississippi watershed.

"No feature of the treaty is more surprising than the low cost to Canada at which the undertaking is to be carried out."

Americans will be especially interested in this statement

"Canada is to obtain four million horse-power and the United States one million horse-power out of the whole St Lawrence waterway development."

The Canadian minister to Washington is congratulated by the Canadian newspaper, because "He has obtained a treaty which places the bulk of the cost upon the United States" in addition to all the other advantages.

Somebody seems to have been asleep on our side of the border when that treaty was made, if facts are as stated by the Canadian newspaper

The United States Senate will have a chance to say what it thinks about this, although just now it is not good form for the United States Senate to think. Much less say what it thinks, if anything.

England and the United States in a money war, each country wants its money to be "cheaper" than the others money. Officially knocking more than forty cents off the dollars value, we expect the dollar to drop far below the pound England fights to keep the pound relatively cheaper than the dollar That is one of the few understandable things about money Outside countries will buy goods from the nation that has the cheapest money, all things being equal

Some citizens are hurriedly changing dollars into bonds After the news about more expensive gold and cheaper dollars came out, the stock exchange had the biggest bonds sale day, with one exception, in history.

The rush for bonds is not easily understood, since they are payable, principal and interest, in cheaper dollars. Why not have the dollars

The wiser man will buy goods, income-producing real estate, for as dollars get cheaper, the real estate will bring in more of them

Barrow Gang Is Hunted In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex, Feb 3—(AP)—The notorious Barrow gang of outlaws was hunted today in the hilly cedar brake country west of Austin after Texas rangers fired numerous shots in a futile attempt to capture a motorist they identified as Raymond Hamilton, associate in crime of Clyde Barrow

Hamilton has been at large since January 16, when a gunman believed to be Barrow, helped him escape from Eastham prison farm

The latest crime of which the Barrow gang was suspected was the $24 000 holdup of the First Coleman National bank yesterday.

NO VERDICT IN TOUHY'S TRIAL

Jurors Unable to Agree and Are Discharged In Kidnap Case.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—(AP)—The guilt or innnocence of Roger Touhy and his two associates, Albert Kator and Gus Schaefer, alleged kidnapers of John Factor, the speculator, remained undetermined today due to the failure of the jury that tried them to reach an agreement, they are to be tried again beginning February 13

Hopelessly deadlocked after more than 25 hours of deliberation, the jury was discharged last night by Judge Michael Feinberg with the jurors' final ballot reported 8 to 4 in favor of a conviction.

At the same time State's Attorney Thbmas J Courtney announced his intention to obtain the permission of the British government for Factor to remain in Chicago to testify at the next trial

Factor was under instructions to surrender in Federal court today on a warran to extradition to Eng'and, where he is wanted for an alleged $7 000 000 stock swindle Officials expressed the belief that he would be permitted to sta in Chicago for the trial

Touhy and Schaefer were recently acquitted in St Paul on a charge of kidnaping William Hamm, jr., wealthy brewer. Kator was not involved in that trial

Friedman Guilty of Robbing Mae West

LOS ANGELES, Feb 3—(INS)—Edward Friedman, asserted gangster today was convicted by a jury of robbing Mae West, the actress, of $15 400 in jewels and money

The verdict found Friedman was guilty of second degree robbery. Judge Harry Sewell said he would pronounce sentence Tuesday

Miss West was not in court when the jury returned its verdict

District attorney's investigators reported that the actress with the 'come hither eyes was 'at home asleep' and under heavy police guard

The officers yesterday had discovered what they believed to be a gangster plot to mar Miss West's classic features with acid because of her testimony against Friedman

Miss West identified Friedman and in her testimony described how she hurriedly had unclasped her diamond necklace when he pointed his pistol at her face because, she said, in typical Westian fashion "I can get along without my diamonds, but I don't dare let anything happen to my face"

Stock Market Wipes Out Declines Of Friday Session; Gains Of 1 To 2 Or More Points Predominate

Vigorous Upturn In Share Prices

Rails, Merchandising and Specialty Issues Are In Demand.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—With the gold rush from Europe to America apparently gaining momentum, stocks today turned up vigorously and more than regained their declines of the previous session. Rails and merchandising issues and specialties were in demand and advances of 1 to 2 or more points predominated. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 2,150,000 shares.

The dollar was an erratic mover in foreign exchange markets, dropping more than 8 cents at one time in terms of sterling, then recovering a portion of theloss. French francs also moved up with the pound and other European currencies followed suit.

Equities received their first encouragement from gains in several days. Wheat came back more than a cent a bushel before noon. Cotton was again moderately higher and other commodities displayed a steadier tone than recently.

Rail equipment stocks were given a play. American Locomotive advancing nearly 3 points while Baldwin Locomotive and American Car & Foundry were up 1 to 2. The more active carrier gainers of 1 to 3 included Union Pacific, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Santa Fe. Among others up as much were U. S. Steel, Du Pont, Chrysler, Case Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Auburn, Allied Chemical, Loew's, U. S. Pipe & Foundry, American Rolling Mill, American Commercial Alcohol and International Harvester. American Telephone was about unchanged and the Aircrafts were still in supply.

The turnover in stocks was about double that of last Saturday. Brokerage houses said there was an expansion of public participation, with considerable switching from long-held issues into more active shares. Only small buying, though, was reported from estate trusts and investment trusts and some foreign accounts were said to have been taking profits.

Shares of some of the companies found new followings upon advices froc Washington that the administration planned to establish a bank for the purpose of financing export trade especially that to Russia and South America.

The bond market continued to attract both speculative and investment interest and many loans moved up to their highest levels in the past two years or more. Trading here was unusually active for a brief Saturday session.

With New York commercial banks ransacking foreign centers for gold, some exchange experts believed it would not be long before leading European currencies were pushed up to the new dollar's parity. It was estimated that between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 of the metal has already been purchased for quick transportation to the United States where it will immediately be sold to the treasury at a substantial profit to he imporers.

Coincident with the early rally of the pound, bar gold in London declined 1 shilling 3 pence to 138 shillings 3 pence. Based on London's sterling opening, the dollar equivalent was $33.84 an ounce. This, of course, meant a difference between the British and American gold rates of 54 cents an ounce.

With bankers scrambling for gold in the world markets, it was assumed that the government's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund would remain idle, a tleast for the time being, so far as operating in the exchange markets is concerned. Private buyers, it was felt, would account for all the metal available.

While some nervousness was evident regarding the possibility of France leaping off the gold standard, little fear of such imminent action was expressed by international bankers in close touch with the situation. A French gold embargo, it was thought, might only be instituted after a lengthy and severe drain on the republic's metallic resources.

Reports from London that England might, within a few months, return to the gold base which she deserted in 1931, were received with much interest in financial circles. At the same time it was generally expected that an agreement between Washington and London on a temporary dollar-pound tie-up would soon be reached.

Grain Prices at Chicago Higher

Wheat Closes Unsettled, ⅞ to 1¼ Up; Corn Gains ¼ to ½.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—(AP)—Higher prices for grains today went hand in hand with mounting quotations of securities.

Some broadening of trade in wheat was evident, and a bullish construction was placed upon word that the great exchange code would soon be approved. Increased buying of wheat resulted also from forecasts that drouth southwest would continue next week.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅞ to 1¼ cents above yesterday's finish, May 92¼@⅜c, July 91⅛@¼c, Corn ¼ to ½ cent up, May 52½@⅝c, July 52⅝@½c. Oats ⅛ to ½ cent advanced, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents higher.

Reports stressing acuteness of crop deterioration in hard wheat states, together with more relief in damage to soft wheat, accompanied early grain prices upturns today. Increased attention was also given to announcement that the United States government would find need for eliminating 5,000,000 acres more from wheat production. Opening ⅜ to 1 cent higher, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started unchanged to ¼c off, and subsequently advanced.

A rise of more than 1½ cents a bushel for wheat was soon scored. New crop deliveries of wheat showed a tendency to gain on May contracts, which stand for wheat already in bins. Commission house buying of July delivery was especially noticeable, and the undertone of the market was generally firm with traders closely watching the action of securities.

Wheat traders gave sharp attention also to evidence of a bull market in silver, with March silver up 70 points at one stage and May silver up 80 points. Another strengthening factor as to wheat was that millers were picking up cash offerings in the Chicago market. Friends of higher prices contended that there were many elements to stimulate buying power ,and few that suggested any permanent decline of values. Corn and oats moved up with wheat.

Provisions sagged a little as a result of absence of any aggressive demand.

About midsession, wheat was 1¼-1⅜ above yesterday's finish and corn was ⅜-½c up.

Corn receipts in Chicago today totaled 99 cars, a week ago 74, and a year ago 107.

Corn, oats and rye averaged higher, with less pressure on the markets than of late. Country offerings of corn to arrive remain light. A leading industry was back in the market as a buyer of cash corn, and the basis was somewhat firmer in consequence. Sweden has prohibited the importation of corn, oats and barley except on special permit, and it is proposed to use excess wheat and rye for feed purposes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—

COTTON—Cotton was firm and active today, making new highs for the season on trade and speculative buying. Favorable reports from the cotton goods trade and more optimistic views of crop control prospects were said to be contributing factors on the advance which carried May up to 11.78. May closed at 11.76 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 14 to 19 points.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Aggressive buying movement in the bond market which pushed prices up at a rapid pace during the week showed no abatement today. Further gains were scored in all sections of the list on a substantial volume of trading for a Saturday.

Secondary issues continued to hold first place in the favor of buyers, but as happened in the last few sessions, gilt edge bonds of virtually all classifications, including U. S. governments, moved in harmony with the upward trend.

Here and there in the low priced groups prices receded a bit as traders realized profits from the week's sharp upturn. The number of issues subject to such reactionary tendencies was small, however.

Gains of fractions to more than a point were shown by some loans of the Allegheny corporation Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Utilities Power & Light American & Foreign Power, Postal Telegraph, Cincinnati Gas & Electric, Detroit Edison, United Drug and others.

U. S. governments edged forward from 1-32 to 14-32nds of a point and this widened the week's gains to substantial proportions.

French and British issues were again under pressure in the foreign department, yielding from 1 to 2 points. South American were generally steady despite profit taking prompted by their recent sharp advance.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—The curb market was firm in fairly active Saturday trading today. Many of the leaders moved narrowly and there were indications that considerable profit taking was being absorbed.

Metal, oil and alcohol stocks moved ahead, though much of the improvement was fractional. Utilities displayed little change while several specialties made rather substantial gains. Such losses as occurred were mostly of a minor nature.

Issues up fractions included American Cyanamid "B," Pioneer Gold, Sherwin Williams, Swift & Co., Hiram Walker, Humble Oil, American Superpower, Electric Bond & Share and American Gas. Niagara Hudson's response to moderate buying was a rise of about half a point. Montgomery Ward "A" was firm.

Parker Rust Proof jumped several points on a few transactions and Great Atlantic & Pacific sold just under 150 in its first transfer of the morning.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—(AP)—Failure of the monetary situation to have any effect on grain prices has caused many wheat traders to cease operations and await further developments at Washington. Wheat, corn and oats were not materially higher at the close yesterday than they were before the president announced the dollar had been stabilized at 59.06 cents.

An estimate that approximately 4,000,000 acres of the 12,000,000 acres seeded to wheat in Kansas last fall may be abandoned because of unfavorable crop conditions was made by the agricultural development department of a railroad running through that state. A lack of moisture for the crop was reported in Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

A statistician estimated that Argentine wheat can be delivered at American gulf ports, duty paid, for $1.02 a bushel, or about 10 cents more than the current price in Chicago of the May delivery. However, local cash grain dealers said this price was well above any import basis, as grain from the north Pacific coast was selling for 93 cents delivered at the gulf.

Weather conditions in the northwest caused the trade to express some apprehension concerning the outcome of the rye crop. A fair trade in the grain with no material pressure was reported in the local market.

Dollar Takes A Downward Slide

LONDON, Feb. 3—(AP)—The United States dollar, which for two days has persisted in strengthening appreciably instead of falling, as generally expected upon announcement of revaluation, took the anticipated downward slide today.

Its drop was not precipitate, but nevertheless it was sufficient to lose a loss of 3 cents to the pound for the day, the closing quotation being 4.93½ to the pound as compared to the overnight quotation of 4.90½.

After a firm opening of 4.89½ to the pound, selling orders appeared and these, not meeting the commercial, repatriating, and gold purchasing demands of the last two days, resulted in a steady decline of the dollar-pound rate, to finish at the day's low point for the devalued American dollar.

The foreign exchange market was only fairly active.

All leading gold currencies eased somewhat on sterling, the French franc finishing at 77.87 to the pound as compared to the overnight figure of 77.50.

Schmeling's pilot insists Max will get $40,000 for fighting Paulino in Barcelona April 8.

And a cable dispatch to International News Service from Spain today said Paulino had thrown a monkey wrench into his proposed fight with Schmeling by demanding more money and threatening to make a tour of South America.

BOLLEN THINKS BRYAN IS WRONG

Says Get Money Now, Let State Body Fix Rates.

Taking issue with Governor Bryan's position that the federal power commission should exercise control over Nebraska public power district rates, Railway Commissioner Bollen Saturday urged that the commission be vested with jurisdiction over rates and service, at the same time criticizing the delay that has endangered PWA allotments already made.

"Let us have the money now while it is available and talk about the rates afterward," declared Bollen, stating that there is plenty of time to act on the matter of rates when they will be needed.

"The present status of our two power projects has the appearance of two politicians fiddling out of tune while Rome burns." Bollen was referring to the Sutherland project which has been alloted a $7,500,000 PWA loan and grant and the Columbus project, which has been alloted $7,300,000.

"Approval by the state must precede the issuance of the federal license and the governor hesitates until he is assured that the rights of the people are protected. In his desire to protect the people, I am in full accord. I am not in accord with his method. He wants some power at Washington to fix the rates. I am opposed to any board at Washington fixing the rates of any public utility in Nebraska. The governor wants the government to fix the rates in advance. That is impossible even at the generators without accurate knowledge of consumption. No one can now tell the amount to be consumed."

Declaring that the commission already has limited power over rural electric rates and service, Bollen suggests that the next legislature "could easily increase this jurisdiction to the point of regulaton of rates and service." The people, through the legislature or the initiative and referendum, Bollen said, have power to fix rates and that power may be delegated to a regulatory body.

Hoppers Not Asleep

The groundhog may have decided to "hole-up" for another six weeks when he came out in Lincoln Friday, but not so the grasshoppers. Mrs. George Knowlton, 2300 South Thirty-seventh street, told The Star Saturday that she found 14 little fellows spritely hopping around on the south side of her house Friday. But the groundhog may have chosen the wiser thing to do in going back to sleep. It is quite possible that winter isn't over.

useful and outstanding citizen. For years he and I have been intimate personal friends, and to me his death is a deep personal loss."

U. S. SENATOR GEORGE W. NORRIS: "The nation is shocked by the death of Senator Hitchcock. Nebraska mourns beside the open grave of her noble son whose life was spent in faithful service for his country and his state."

U. S. SENATOR W. H. THOMPSON: "It has been my privilege and honor to have known former Senator Hitchcock closely ever since 1884. No man in our state made a more rapid and permanent growth mentally, morally, in business and statesmanship than did Gilbert M. Hitchcock. He was a success in everything he undertook. A leader in thought and in action. A tower of strength in his every endeavor. He did much for his city, state and nation. We shall all miss him."

CARL GRAY, president of the Union Pacific railroad, described Mr. Hitchcock as an "outstanding statesman, with the highest of patriotic motives."

ARTHUR J. WEAVER, ex-governor of Nebraska. "Every Nebraskan should regret the death of Senator Hitchcock, as he was an outstanding pioneer citizen who has contributed greatly to the state and nation. He was a splendid national figure, always courageous and devoted to his principles and played a worthy part in national legislation. Nebraska may well be proud of his national service. As an editor and publisher, he was outstanding also. Those who knew him personally will miss his kindly and genial personality."

REP. EDWARD BURKE: "In the passing of Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska has suffered the loss of one of its most distinguished sons x x x To my mind the most impressive characteristic of Senator Hitchcock was his demonstration that there can be a dignity about public service that does not interfere with effectiveness. His example has been a powerful influence in attracting into political activity men and women of high ideals x x x He will rank as one of the really great statesmen of his day and age."

ROBERT SMITH, chairman of the republican state committee. "Senator Hitchcock has amassed and left a fortune, but his principal contribution has been a demonstration of common honesty, perservance and indomitable courage, that would not know defeat."

REP. JOHN H. MOREHEAD: "The death of Senator Hitchcock was sad news to all who knew him. His activities in public and private life made his acquaintance with many, and they were all his friends. Few were as well informed on national and international questions as Senator Hitchcock."

CHARLES A. GOSS, chief justice Nebraska Supreme court: "He was a fine character and rendered very distinct service. I have nothing but commendation for his career and can only express sorrow for his death."

4 CONVICTED OF PLOT TO DEFRAUD INSURANCE FIRMS

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—(AP)—Four defendants weer convicted and two acquitted today of conspiracy to defraud the Security Life & Northern States Life Insurance companies of $1,702,000 through the sale of mortgages on Waukegan property of little worth.

The two acquitted were John H. S. Lee attorney and former law partner of former Senator Charles S. Deneen, and Bertram Day, who was president of the Northern States Co.

The guilty four are Machir Dorsey of Indianapolis, former president of the Security Life Insurance Co and alleged head of the conspiracy; Harry W. Huttig, wealthy manufacturer of Muscatine, Ia., who was co-owner of the Waukegan 30 acres mortgaged to the insurance companies; C. Edwin Johnson, vice president of Security Life, and Edwin Hult, head of a company bearing his name.

All four were convicted on all 18 counts in the indictment.

The jury specified fines of $1,000 each for Dorsey and Hult in addition to a prison term left for the judge to fix. The maximum would be one to five year on each of the 18 counts. In the cases of Johnson and Huttig the jury did not recommend the penalty. The maximum, said the prosecutor, would be a year in the county jail and a fine not to exceed $2,000.

NOTED OMAHAN STRICKEN AT WASHINGTON

the two papers were consolidated, remaining until the present time under his ownership and control

Mr. Hitchcock received his common school education at Omaha and later studied for a time in Germany. Returning to this country, he took a law course in the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, graduating there in 1881. He was in legal practice thereafter at Omaha until he started his newspaper enterprise.

Married Jessie Crounse.

He was married to Miss Jessie Crounse, daughter of a former Nebraska governor, in 1883. She died at Washington in 1925, and in 1927 the former senator was wed to Miss Martha Harris of Memphis, Tenn., who survives him.

In his first campaign for congress in 1898 Mr. Hitchcock lost to the veteran republican incumbent, David H. Mercer. In 1902, however, he defeated the latter, being supported by his erstwhile bitter newspaper rival, Edward Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, who was a political foe of Mercer's.

He served two house terms subsequently, and in 1910 became a candidate for United States senator on the democratic ticket. He succeeded in ousting Senator E. J. Burkett, republican nominee for re-election, aided by the progressive revolt against the Taft administration which split the republican party in the nation two years later and put Woodwrow Wilson into the white house.

In 1916 Senator Hitchcock won re-election, but he was beaten in 1922 by Robert B. Howell, republican candidate for the senate. Again in 1930 Hitchcock was nominated by his party for senator, against his former colleague George W. Norris on the republican ticket, but Norris was re-elected.

Candidate For President.

In 1920 Senator Hitchcock received the preferential vote of Nebraska democrats for president of the United States, and received votes from this and other states at the San Francisco convention. In 1928, he was again prominently mentioned for president at the democratic national convention.

New political distinction came to him at the 1932 democratic national convention in Chicago, where he was chosen as chairman of the committee to draft the platform on which Franklin D. Roosevelt afterward made his winning campaign.

Mr. Hitchcock was one of the first to urge the presidential nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt. After the election, he was mentioned frequently as a possible ambassador to the court of St. James, but he publicly declared he was seeking no such honor.

Mr. Hitchcock was also offered an appointment on the federal reserve board by President Roosevelt, soon after taking office, but declined it, and the post was then given to J. J. Thomas of Seward, now serving on the board.

Made Bryan Editor.

The late William Jennings Bryan was closely associated with Hitchcock for a year or two when the latter employed him as editor of the Omaha World-Herald. Bryan held that position up to the time of his nomination for president in 1896. He was succeeded by R. L. Metcalfe, well known newspaper man and present state NRA chairman for Nebraska.

When the federal bank deposit insurance legislation was being drafted in the last congress, Mr. Hitchcock's advice was sought and given at Washington and many of his ideas adopted by administration and congressional leaders. Early in his senate career, Hitchcock became a member of the banking committee and was active in the shaping of the federal reserve act.

Mr. Hitchock is survived by his wife and two daughters by his first marriage, Mrs. Henry Doorly, of Omaha, and Miss Ruth Hitchcock, of Washington. Three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, all of Omaha, also survive. The grandchildren are Mrs. Richard H. Young, who was Miss Katherine Doorly; Gilbert Doorly and Miss Margaret (Peggy) Doorly, who is reigning queen of Ak-Sar-Ben at Omaha.

U. S. TRADE WITH RUSSIA INCREASES

WASHINGTON, Feb 3—(AP)—United States exports and imports to and from soviet Russia were shown by department of commerce figures today to have reversed their downward trend, December gaining over November and over December last year.

It was explained that Russian recognition, together with the general stimulation of world trade, probably accounted for the gain.

Exports to France, Germany and the United Kingdom and Canada declined, while exports to Japan increased in December as compared with November.

Imports from France and Canada increased in December over November largely because of American purchases of liquor and wines. German imports also gained while those from the United Kingdom and Japan dropped.

Alcorn Locked In South Dakota Pen

SIOUX FALLS, Feb 3—(AP)—Gordon Alcorn, alleged henchman of Verne Sankey, confessed kidnaper, joined his pal in the South Dakota penitentiary here today after arriving in a heavily guarded special railway coach from Chicago.

Like Sankey, Alcorn was placed in solitary confinement at the state prison to await disposition of a charge of conspiracy to kidnap for ransom. Conviction on the charge might bring a life sentence.

M'CRACKEN IS ARRESTED AND FREED ON BOND

tee asked Brittin if he went to look over the files because he knew the senate committee had a subpoena outstanding covering MacCracken's air mail correspondence

"You went because you did not want the senate committee to get those parts of the files?" Black demanded.

"Yes," Brittin answered, explaining he wanted to avoid public examination of the correspondence.

"I took them to my office and tore them up as I would any other papers."

Brittin said Frederick P. Lee, MacCracken's partner, did not "protest" removal of the papers.

"Then he agreed for you to take the files?"

"He did not protest, Senator."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Under arrest by the senate but free on the personal bond of his attorney, William P. MacCracken, a cabinet figure of the Hoover administration, today studied the answers he will give when facing the senate bar on Monday.

Senate air mail investigators, up in arms at the refusal of the former assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics to open his files, probably would have summoned him to the chamber floor today. But the senate was in recess.

The arrest of MacCracken and the senate order that his files be seized caused somewhat of a sensation in the capital. Not for years had the senate ordered the arrest of an outsider.

MacCracken himself took somewhat of a different attitude toward the situation today. He had told investigators that he was standing upon the privilege of a lawyer in not disclosing the affairs of a client.

Angers Senators.

Those close to the former official said today, however, that just about the time he was arrested yesterday he had gotten word from the last of his aviation clients releasing him from any pledge of privacy about their affairs. Frank J. Hogan, MacCracken's attorney, said the files would be turned over to the senate. But by the time he spoke, investigators already were poring through them.

What had angered the senators most was the testimony of MacCracken himself that after refusing to place his air mail correspondence before the investigating committee the officials of two airways companies had taken letters from the files.

Chairman Black of the senate committee said the letters had been destroyed. The officials themselves were quoted as saying the letters were personal correspondence and that they had nothing to conceal.

TONS OF GOLD ARE ON WAY TO UNITED STATES

a record figure of $4,434,713,155.18.

The treasury statement showed no separate breakdown for the huge $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund but simply carried it lumped in with the total gold in the general fund.

The gold in the general fund is that which is unobligated—not being used to support currency, either federal reserve or United States.

Dollar Declines.

(By the Associated Press.)

The sweeping and unexpected advance of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies was finally reversed today, but it still held well above its new gold parity in terms of foreign currencies.

A fresh flurry of selling appeared in the French franc and other foreign currencies for a time in New York after the dollar had declined in London and Paris, but this was soon absorbed.

The French franc closed in New York at 6.33 cents, still .30 of one cent under its new parity but .10 of a cent over yesterday's final level. The pound sterling finished at $4.93½, up 5½ cents.

Securities and commodity markets again turned upward in New York and Chicago. Many stocks gained from $1 to $3 a share in the New York stock exchange, in the largest trading for a Saturday since July. Bonds continued to climb. Cotton gained 70 to 95 cents a bale, wheat more than a cent a bushel, and silver futures about a cent an ounce.

TWO-POINT GAIN IN FARM PRICE INDEX

WASHINGTON, Feb 3—(AP)—An increase of two points in the farm price index for January 15 was reported today by the bureau of agricultural economics, bringing it to 71.

The increase which covered the month ending that date was caused by a general advance in local market prices of grain, meat animals, wool, animals, chickens and wool. Prices of dairy products and eggs made seasonal declines.

The index of purchasing power of farm products advanced one point to 60 per cent of the prewar average compared with 57 per cent a year ago.

Envoy Says U.S. And Japan Not At Loggerheads

Saito Sees No Outstanding Difficulty Between Two Nations.

LONDON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Hiroshi Saito, who at 47 has been rewarded with one of the two most important assignments in the Japanese diplomatic service—the ambassadorship at Washington—left for his new post today firmly convinced that nothing stands in the way of bringing about the most friendly basis of understanding between the two countries.

"There is no real outstanding difficulty" between the United States and Japan," the new ambassador said as he walked through Waterloo station to entrain for Southampton to embark on the Berengaria.

"It is absurd to say that Japan and America now or ever will be at loggerheads."

Saito called attention to the recent expressions of opinion in America on matters in which the Nipponese are concerned, such as the Manchurian problem, immigration and trade.

These expressions, he said indicated Americans are beginning to understand Japan's position in these matters.

Youth Hitch Hikes From Oklahoma To See Brother in Pen

A bashful soft-spoken lad of 16 years walked into the state penitentiary at 2 o'clock Saturday morning to pay a social call. The lad was Warren Harris, Muskogee, Okla., who had left that city early Friday morning and hitch-hiked to Lincoln to visit his brother Joe Harris who last December was given a 10-year sentence for his part in the robbery of the First National bank at York.

Unable to get accommodations the lad was taken to police headquarters, where he was given lodging. At 6:30 Saturday morning, Warren was up and ready to go. His gray denim shirt was frayed at the collar and the knees of his dark pants sagged but those inconsequentials were apparently of little moment to him for he was to see Joe, whom he thinks is the greatest guy in the world, Saturday morning.

Desk Sergeant Herb McDowell noticed a lean look in Warren's eyes and asked him when he had eaten last.

"Yesterday morning," Warren admitted, "but I'm really not very hungry." He was, though.

McDowell gave the lad a quarter for breakfast and Warren [illegible] accepted [illegible].

"I'm going to hunt for a job in Lincoln," Warren added. "I'd kinda like to be near here, Joe."

Huskers Take On Aggies at Coliseum Tonight

Fourth Place in "Big Six" Race Is Reward to Winner of Battle

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

University of Nebraska cagers will have an opportunity to grab undisputed possession of fourth position in the Big Six conference race tonight when the Cornhuskers engage Kansas State at the coliseum in what promises to be one of the thrillers of home season. The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

In Deadlock Now.

At the present moment the Cornhuskers and Kaggies are deadlocked in a tie for the fourth spot and with a better position at stake the game is certain to be warmly contested. The Cornhuskers are particularly anxious to win this game, since they feel they should have won the early season tilt which found the Wildcats winning in an exciting extra period affair.

"Rambling Ralph" Graham, well-known to Nebraska fans, is the "Big Bertha" in the Kansas State ranks. Graham was the fly in the Nebraska ointment in last month's tussle at Manhattan, scoring the winning basket in the closing seconds of the extra period. He has averaged better than eight points per game in conference competition, slightly better than Francis Boyd, versatile guard.

Revamped Lineup.

Coach W. H. Browne of the Cornhuskers will present a slightly revamped lineup made necessary by the loss of Leland Copple, center, at mid-year. The squad is further hobbled by an ankle injury to Paul Mason, third-year player who works in at a guard or forward position.

Hary Sorensen, sophomore from Hardy, is slated to open at center tonight, with Kenneth Lunney and Hubert Boswell forwards, and Harvey Widman and Bud Parsons, guards.

First string relief will include Mason, along with Dwight Loder, Marion Scott and Henry Whitaker, the latter being a St. Joseph product who recently skimmed over the eligibility hurdle.

Probable Lineups.

COX STILL LOW MAN AT CALIENTE

Brooklyn Golfer Pacing Field With 3-Round Total of 210.

AGUA CALIENTE, Feb. 3—(INS)—The final drive for the Agua Caliente $7,500 open championship was under way today. Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn, leader in the first and second rounds, maintained his position of dominance by virtue of a sterling 71 yesterday, giving him a total of 210.

However, Willie Hunter, former British amateur champion and Southern California open title-holder, was right on his tail with a total of 211.

Four strokes behind the leader were three magnificent golfers tied with 214 strokes. These were Olin Dutra of Santa Monica, Cal., Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., winner of this tournament last year, and Ky Laffoon of Denver, who today was the hero of Agua Caliente.

Ky Shoots Hole-In-One.

Laffoon yesterday won the hearts of thousands who thronged the course when he scored a miraculous hole-in-one at the 235-yard ninth hole. Ky was out in 32 and had the chance of a lifetime to set a new record, but his ace at the ninth hole put on such pressure that the best he could do was a 37 coming home for a total of 69.

The contest for amateur honors today developed into a three-cornered race among Johnny Dawson of Chicago, with 76-74-70—220; Dr Cliff Baker of Portland, with 72-78-70—220, and Charles Seaver, the California amateur, with 73-78-73—224.

VIEWMEN AHEAD OF PLATTSMOUTH

Robson's Team Bombards Basket In Compiling 23-17 Victory.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Feb. 3—With big Leonard Walters setting the pace for the second successive night, the invading College View aggregation pulled a mild surprise in whipping Plattsmouth here last night, 23-17.

The home quint succeeded in curbing the high scoring activities of the Robson team's ace, Captain George Scott, but while thus engaged overlooked Walters, who filtered through the defense for three baskets and responded with a like number of gift heaves to establish himself as the main factor in the victory for the capital city ball club.

Replacing Jake Deitrich late in the first quarter Gene Miller immediately hung up a brace of tosses to give the Lincoln troupe a 11-7 lead at intermission. Although the match was fairly close the rest of the way, the visitors were masters of the situation and scored almost at will.

Walters and Miller were important contributors to the defeat of the Platters, with Scott turning in a smooth floor performance. McCleary was high scorer for Plattsmouth. The score:

COACHES PONDER RULE PROPOSALS

Mentors Likely to Grant Approval to Single Alteration.

NEW YORK, Feb 3—(INS)—Only one of five suggested major changes in the football rules is likely to meet the approval of the rules committee of the American Football Coaches' association in session here today with Lon Little presiding as chairman.

The one change which probably will be recommended to the committee for approval, would make the end zone part of the playing field for forward passing purposes.

An incomplete pass into the end zone now is ruled a touchback. Under the proposed change, it would be ruled only an incomplete pass and the passing team would hold the ball.

Four other changes will be discussed, but they do not stand much chance of acceptance. They are: The proposal to bring the ball in 15 yards instead of 10 on plays that cross the boundary; elimination of the fumble and so-called dead ball rules; return of the goal posts to the goal line and permission to forward pass from any spot behind the scrimmage line.

Bluebirds Beaten By Ashland Rally

ASHLAND, Neb., Feb. 3—Ashland high school rallying desperately in the waning moments of the final regulation period, carried a thrilling battle with Cathedral high of Lincoln into extra periods and then finally upset the Bluebirds, 32-28, by cashing in on a couple of baskets early in the second over-time session.

Nick Belhartz's sensational shooting in the closing quarter had established a 26-23 lead for the Capital City five with [illegible] minutes to go. R. Mullen and Wagner, however, scored on a field marker and a charity toss to carry the game into overtime.

Ashland scored first in the first extra [illegible] but Haberlan knotted the count again just before the whistle with a short field goal. With the count 28-28 going into the second overtime the winners spurted into the lead on a pair of baskets and then controlled the ball the remainder of the session. The score:

OMAHA, Neb., Feb 3—Lincoln won the inter-city ping pong trophy here last night by defeating the Omaha club, 21-13.

JUDGE PROVOKED BY TENNIS STARS

Threatens Jail for 'Big Bill' and Vines If They Fail Appear.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines and Bill Tilden have a date in Los Angeles on April 11—and it's not to play tennis.

The date arises out of the desire of a court commissioner to question them about Vines' earnings and his ability to meet a $3,500 judgment in favor of Frank L. Albright, injured in an accident involving the tennis player's automobile.

They were supposed to have appeared yesterday. Their lawyer said they were on their way east to fulfill tennis playing contracts.

Frank Collier, presiding judge of the Superior court, said he would "slap" the tennis aces in jail if they failed to appear next time.

Arrive In Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 3—(AP)—Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines resume their profession tennis duel here tonight. They arrive today from the Pacific coast, where Vines gained the advantage of the veteran and now leads eight matches to five. Vincent Richards and Bruce Barnes also will play. Their Monday night booking takes the Tilden-Vines troupe to Lincoln, Neb.

WISE MEN MADE TO LOOK FOOLISH

Gave 5-1 Odds On Tony and All But Lost Their Dough.

By HYPE IGOE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(INS)—There are a few soldiers of fortune in our town who are sitting back today, re-counting wagers they didn't win.

And all because Joe Humphreys announced in Madison Square Garden that the judges had disagreed and the referee had declared the bout between Tony Canzoneri and Cleto Locatelli a "draw."

Later, it was discovered that Humphreys had made a mistake in reading Abe Goldberg's slip as a "draw," when, in reality, Goldberg had awarded his decision to Canzoneri.

When Joe looked at the slip he saw that Goldberg had tabulated six rounds of the 12 to each man. Also, Goldberg had written across the top of his tally sheet: "Contest a draw—but because of better fighting in the closing rounds, Canzoneri, the winner."

There was nothing to do but have Humphreys re-announce the decision, and he did.

Wise Men Made Concession.

Tony was a 5-1 shot in the betting and to induce Locatelli admirers to open their purses, the wise men of Broadway stipulated: "Draw, you win."

Humphreys bawled "draw." The Locatelli backers broke their ankles getting down among the commission men to rake in the greenbacks. A lot of money was paid off and the happy 5 to 1 rooters scooted home.

Canzoneri had to fight the battle of his life to gain his off-again, on-again verdict. He knocked the European champion down in the second and third rounds, but the visitor refused to take a count.

It was a savage fight, Locatelli putting up a courageous stand. He rocked Tony often when he cut loose with his own right hand, shooting splendid, straight shots to the chin. Tony took them. He had to.

Broncs Turn Back Quint From Kansas

HASTINGS, Neb., Feb. 2—Hastings college stepped outside the conference to defeat Bethany college of Lindsborg, Kan., here Friday night, 32 to 18. It was the second victory of the season for the Broncos over the Kansas team. Hastings led at half-time, 18 to 15, after a slow start, but rang the hoop consistently during the final period, while holding the visitors to one field goal. Martin led the scoring for the evening, while Hartley was high man for the visitors. The score:

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off

One f the strangest storms that ever occurred was recorded in the log of the steamer Moravian, a British ship, as having happened early in the morning of December 30, 1902. The storm had everything that goes to make up a thunderstorm—except there were no clouds in the sky. The stars were visible, as was a distant lighthouse — then suddenly lightning appeared on the horizon. The flashes came closer, appearing almost continuous and were accompanied by loud thunder. The ship was off Cape Verde lighthouse, on the East African coast, when the storm was observed.

Look on the front page of this newspaper and you will find the paper's "ears"—they are the small boxes in the upper left and right corners. Some papers have "ears" on several other pages. The "ears" generally carry a standing announcement, weather forecast, edition name or in rare instances, advertising.

Mr Albert Sarraut, who was premier of France for a time last fall, began his "no-can-be-killed" career when he was carried off a dueling field for dead. He revived, however, and was later sent to Indo-China as governor-general. There two bombs were thrown at him, neither taking effect, although one did kill 12 people nearby.

On one occasion a would-be assassin shot him several times with a revolver. At another time he suffered several broken bones when an automobile ran over him and knocked him into a river. In 10 days he was up and around.

LINCOLN WALKS ON OMAHA TECH

Red and Black Cagesters Win Decisively In Court Clash.

Lincoln high meets Hastings tonight at 8 o'clock on the Irving high floor.

The basketball throne, signifying Missouri Valley conference supremacy, apparently is within easy ascension for Lincoln high, following its decisive 36-13 triumph over Omaha Tech Friday night at Irving junior high.

As a consequence of the victory, Coach Stuart Baller's hoop hawks shot far out in front in the race for the circuit crown by setting up a gap of two full games between themselves and the remaining three quints and, at the same time, completed their eighth game of the year without reversal.

Holding an 8-0 lead at the end of a slow first quarter, the Capital City hoopsters doubled the margin in the next stanza, the Gate City tribe's lone tally being chalked up on a mid-court swisher by Salvards with 13 minutes of the half gone. Lincoln's use of the fast break resulted in every basket in the initial half being scored from short range with the exception of Amen's long side goal. Intermission time found Lincoln ahead, 16-2.

Bradley and Parsons were the offensive hot shots of the melee, each with nine points.

Bauer's tip-in shot in the last 30 seconds gave Havelock's reserves a 22-20 win over the Lincoln high third team in the preliminary. The score:

After Creighton's team had won three, lost four and tied one game in last season's schedule, Stark at once became the target of alumni criticism.

Sooners Victims of First Reverse

NORMAN, Okla., Feb 3—The Oklahoma winning streak was broken but the Sooners still were atop the Big Six conference pile today. Missouri handed the Oklahomans a 31-28 defeat last night, the first reverse of the season, but the game was only an exhibition contest. The official game is tonight. Missouri led 11-10 at the half. JACKSON UPSETS HASTINGS QUINT

Beechner's Boys Step Out In Surprise Victory Over Tigers.

With Art Barrett scorching the net with a constant bombardment of baskets, Jackson high school's cagers pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season by handing Hastings high's highly-touted basket outfit the short end of a 37-33 count in a over-time affair on Crimson maples Friday night. The contest was deadlocked at 18-all at the intermission, and 33-33 at the end of the regular playing time.

Barrett, regular center last year but relegated to a substitute role this season, burned up the maples with seven field goals and a gifter for 15 tallies, and it was his follow-in shot which broke the count in the extra period to hand Jackson the ball game.

Thomas Started Second String.

Coach Dwight Thomas started his second-stringers, with an idea of saving his first five for the Lincoln game tonight at Irving, but rushed his regulars into the game at the quarter after the Jackson quintet had rolled up a commanding 14-5 margin. Overturf and Crosson led the Hastings spurt and picked up the slack by the breathing spell, limiting Jackson to a basket by Barrett and gifters by Fitz and Martin during the second period.

Overturf's basket at the start of the second half sent Hastings in front but Fitz tied it up from the side and Jackson went ahead on Wayne Davis' single pointer. Hopp and Ringsted again sent the Tigers in front, but Barrett cut loose to put Jackson ahead, never again to be trailing. By the end of the quarter Jackson had stretched the margin to 28-24 and maintained this lead for five minutes of the last period. Overturf cracked two baskets through the hoop, however, to tie the count at the gong.

Two minutes of the extra period had elapsed when Barrett came through with the winning heave, and Willie Martin, just to make sure, punched one through from underneath and it was all over but the shouting.

A near-capacity crowd which kept the gymnasium in a bedlam during the second half, went wild when Barrett cashed in his final basket. Barrett incidentally, played the finest game of his high school career, with Don Overturf of Hastings stealing the show for the invaders. The score:

Track Aces Lined Up to Strive for World Mark at Indoor Mile

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(INS)—Glenn Cunningham, the Kansan whose "kick" finish has raced everybody into the ground, and Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania, holder of the world's indoor record, are to meet again tonight. A simple unadorned statement of fact, that. But beneath its plain exterior lies a tremendous story of speed, drama, hysteria and heartbreak. Before it is told, Madison Square Garden will be a bedlam and all records for one mile may simply be no more.

New Record Predicted.

They will meet at this historic distance at the annual games of the Millrose A. A. Joe Mangan, a great runner from Cornell, will be in the field. So will Glenn Dawson, the Oklahoman with the great rush from the rear, and Crowley, 4:15 man from Manhattan college. But the eyes of a turn-away crowd of 16,000 will be only for Cunningham and Venzke as they annihilate distance and make a fool of them.

Either one or the other will win this race, with Cunningham naturally favored. He "took" Venzke three times at the mile distance last year and was beaten once at 1,500 metres, although Venzke barely lasted to the tape. He may even repeat this effort tonight and run to his world's indoor record of 4:10, but somehow one senses that it won't be enough.

Cunningham All Set.

Cunningham has done no actual racing since his European tour last summer, but he's ready. He proved that to Bill Hargiss, his coach, last week when he ran three-quarters under the watch on the makeshift Kansas university board track in 3:12. He did 3:18 on pretty much the same track before he came east for the indoor races last winter, so figure it out for yourself. The Kansas track, they say, is a little faster now, but not that much.

As for Venzke, he has raced himself back to the point where he was the reigning sensation of the 1932 indoor season. They say Venzke's judgment of pace is just as acute now as it has been, which is all very well. But I notice that it's very difficult to out-think a terrific burst of speed on the bell lap.

Kansan Strong Finisher.

In other words, if Venzke can run to his 4:10 tonight, the record probably will go, because he'll take Cunningham with him to the last two laps. After that, if there's any taking to be done, Cunningham probably will do it.

He shaded 4:10 outdoors in Chicago last summer and can repeat on the fast Garden track, if properly incited. Even the world's outdoor record of 4:07.6 by Lovelock, the New Zealander, won't be safe under those conditions. For, in common with everybody else, I've come to believe that this tremendous man from Kansas will run just as fast as they make him.

The boys, of course, are blathering when they talk about the four-minute mile. A few years ago, in fact, this was only a vision, but today they discuss it in terms of serious conjecture. It means 7 yards in one second and a quarter of a mile in sixty—for a distance of 1,760 yards.

No Need for Watch.

And when you get down to a point where somebody runs 49 yards faster than Lovelock did in the stretch that hot day last July, they won't need a stop-watch. They'll have to have a dictaphone.

Walter Marty and George Spitz also are supposed to do 6 feet 9 inches, or thereabouts, for a world's record in the high jump, but I don't think they will—unless Spitz does it. Marty, the world's record holder, has had less than a week of experience with indoor spikes and hasn't bettered 6 feet 2 inches here. They expect him to do about "six-six" under the spur of competition.

Ralph Metcalfe and Emmett Toppino are a cinch to equal the 60-yard record, 6 1-5. But they won't better it. The man doesn't live who can beat that time indoors.

Johnny Morriss of Louisiana figures to take the hurdle record, however. It's 7 4-5, by George Guthrie, the old Ohio State man.

Mead High Cagers Win Over Bethany

Mead high school's basketeers, the class B state champions two years ago, came from behind to down Bethany high school's maplemen Friday night on the Maroon court, taking the long end of a 25-16 count. The score was deadlocked at the intermission, 8-8.

Bethany was leading with approximately five minutes to play, but Center Wilson couldn't miss and the Bethany lead was erased and Mead piled up an imposing array of baskets before the tragedy was ended by the timekeeper's gun.

Bethany, however, showed an improved team from that which dropped a league game to Cathedral last week, indicating that the rough spots in the Bethany high-way may be smoothed over after three weeks of rocky going. Wilson caged seven baskets and a free shot for 15 points while Frank Unland paced the Clarkmen with four baskets.

Bethany journeys to Waverly tonight for a clash with Waverly high outfit which only last week pulled an upset out of its bag to whip College View convincingly, 36-23. The Mead-Bethany score:

SHOPTOWN QUINT DOWNS FAIRBURY

Vogel's Free Toss Gives Engineers Long End of 21-20 Score.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Feb. 3—Havelock high of Lincoln measured Fairbury high school's basketeers here Friday night, 21-20, when Dave Vogel, Engineer guard, cashed in on a gift shot in the final minute of play to break a 20-20 deadlock. Fairbury had set the pace from the beginning, but a spree by Dutch Lebsack knotted the count and Vogel came through at a critical moment.

West, Lintz and Juarez did most of the work for Fairbury, with Luke Miller and Dutch Lebsack the Havelock aces. Juarez was the high scorer with nine points, Lebsack getting seven for the Shoptowners.

Havelock winds up the two-day road trip tonight, meeting Hebron on Hebron maples. The Fairbury-Havelock score:
